Preface . . .

The MEDLEY, a symbol of Danville High School since 1904, has grown from a 64-page paper-bound book to a 192-page hard-cover volume. This growth has not been easily achieved. It is the result of hours of work and the culmination of seemingly endless tasks.

This year we have chosen to show how each of the letters of the word MEDLEY represents a part of our life here at D.H.S during the 1956-1957 school year.

Jesse Trueblood, editor of the first MEDLEY, prefaced his book with "The object of the MEDLEY is to keep up the spirit of loyalty for Danville High School . . . that her students, each and every one, may be a support, and not a burden to her." We feel that these words are as true today as they were in 1904.

Like our predecessors, we the staff, hope that the 1957 MEDLEY will recall many happy experiences for you and that it will be a book of which all Danville High School may be proud.

DHS in late August

MEDLEY

Memories of pleasurable events from September through May will linger in our minds. From the first football game and dance to the Prom in May, our calendar was filled with a variety of social activities.

The freshmen entered the halls of DHS for the first time.

Scheduling classes and hours posed a problem on registration day.

September and October . . .

welcomed back 1800 DHS students. The seniors busily prepared for their final year as the freshmen looked forward to four fun-filled years at DHS. Seven new teachers were welcomed to the DHS faculty.

Registration kicked off the school year in early September. It was followed in rapid succession by football games, dances, and assemblies. Among these was the Maroon and White assembly held in mid-September. The DHS Spirit Jug symbolized spirit portrayed by the DHS student body. The jug was awarded at each pep assembly to the class displaying the most spirit. This was determined by loud cheering and each class had its hands on the jug at some time during the year.

Sonia "57"

Senior spirit reigned supreme at this pep assembly as the "spirit jug" changed hands.

The Medley assembly was held in late October, at which time subscriptions to the book were taken.

Looking forward to future years, juniors and seniors attended the annual College Day. Representatives from various colleges and universities spent the entire day at the high school, interviewing the interested students.

The Student Council's first paid assembly featured Miss Erica Melchoir's presentation of unusual puppets.

The four "witches" pantomimed on the Medley assembly.

Peter Rabbit was a favorite on the marionette assembly.

Queen Judy Barnett

Homecoming

A beautiful queen, four floats, and a great football game comprised the 1956 Homecoming. In the coronation assembly in the morning, the 1955 Queen, Kay Lash, crowned Judy Barnett as the 1956 homecoming queen. Her attending court included seniors Myrna Pichon and Ruth Blue, junior Linda Sue Miller, sophomore Susan Arnold, and freshman Sheila Weinberg. Bob Mills and Chuck Ferris escorted the senior attendants, while the class presidents escorted the rest.

In the homecoming parade, each class was represented with a float. The queen and her attendants led the procession in convertibles, followed by the DHS Band and many homeroom groups. The junior class float was voted the best, while the "spirit jug" was awarded to the sophomores.

The team responded to the day's activities by mauling Mattoon 25-6. Following the game, the queen reigned over the homecoming dance. The sweet music of Joe Berns brought Homecoming 1956 to a close.

The majorettes and the band stepped high in the parade.

"Razor Sharp" was the theme of the junior's winning float.

Marryin' Sam was kept quite busy at the Sadie Hawkins dance.

Terry Dazey and Carol Smith were crowned Lil' Abner and Daisy Mae by Judy Caughron and Douglas Gledhill.

November . . .

was filled with an accelerated program of activities. Sadie Hawkins was a frolic as the beaus tried to pin their bows. Marryin' Sam was kept quite busy throughout the dance.

The government classes in cooperation with Maroon & White sponsored an all-school mock election, complete with an electoral college. The election coincided closely with the national election.

Wranglers Club presented a clever skit in the annual Thanksgiving Assembly.

Government classes cut ballots for the mock national election.

Grandmother served the twins on the Thanksgiving aassembly.

A Cappella harmonized at Fall Concert.

Senior Orchestra featured several numbers for the program.

Carolyn, Sue, and Carol sang with the Choir as an accompaniment.

The 18th Annual Fall Concert was presented on November 16 with two hundred music students participating. The Senior Orchestra played selections from Beethoven, Brahms, and Tchaikovsky. A Cappella Choir and Euterpeans sang eleven numbers to make the musical program complete. Organ and piano numbers highlighted the fine evening of entertainment and the DHS Majorettes were also featured in this section.

With the end of November, the DHS basketball team had swung into action. The third month of the 1956-57 school year had passed before we realized it.

Freivogel tipped off the basketball season against Gibson City.

Peggy, Susan, Al and Darla packed clothes for the Hungarian relief box.

Early December brought the first big snow.

A Cappella entertained with a Christmas program.

December and January . . .

ushered in the winter season. The first heavy snow fell on December 12. Seniors were kept busy preparing for College Board exams. Christmas brought a festive mood to DHS. With the tree in the north hall, the other Christmas decorations and activities, one could not forget that it was the Yule season.

The Dramatic Club held its annual banquet to welcome home its alumni, and

The Christmas tree decorated the north hall.

Miss Legg directed carols around the Christmas tree.

Pat Richter and Mrs. Rewerts sold holly for Girls' Club.

Semester end brought discussion about grades.

January registration was a busy time for both faculty and students.

many other clubs observed the season with parties and celebrations.

The Music department entertained the school with two Christmas assemblies. The Senior Orchestra members presented a program of Christmas songs. The A Cappella choir sang many infrequently heard carols. With the recessional "Angels from the Realms of Glory," the students were dismissed for the holiday. January brought a sigh of relief as the first semester ended. A busy registration day was made easier for the teachers by Student Council members who served coffee and cokes.

The talent assembly was highlighted with much new talent. As the month drew to a close, the Jitterbug Ball was held in Boys' Gym.

Jerry and Mary Lou danced to the "Portuguese Washer Woman" on the talent assembly.

The "Jitterbug Ball" attracted many students.

Dr. Hudson's Secret Journal

"Dr. Hudson's Secret Journal" was an inspiring production adapted from the book by Lloyd C. Douglas. The entire story centered around Doctor Hudson, a devoted doctor in a large city hospital. A generous man, he was always helping unfortunate people. Something of a mystic, he believed that helping without letting them know of their benefactor gave him a strange power.

His one driving ambition was to build a wing onto the Brightwood Hospital. In order to accomplish this he first had to acquire the adjoining property. The owner, Mr. Warner, refused to sell the property at a reasonable price. A moving tragedy, which involved Doctor Hudson's daughter, Joyce, finally brought Mr. Warner to his senses, and the wing was built.

Joyce wrapped her father around her finger.

Tony Bontempini wouldn't talk for Dr. Hudson.

Brightwood's new wing was the center of discussion by the hospital staff.

brought thoughts of spring to DHS. Courtesy was stressed throughout February and Steve Galambos, a Hungarian refugee, visited our school for a few weeks and studied English with some of our students. As the month ended, the sophomores sponsored a successful basketball game for the Foreign Student Fund.

March came in like a lion as the music students hurried to complete preparations for Moments Musical. Bob Spicer won the state wrestling title in his weight and the DHS basketball team completed their season in mid-March. The traffic survey in late March netted enough money for the For-

Spring finally arrived as April blew in. Senior activities went on an accelerated schedule and the All-School party with "Fiesta Time" as its theme was very successful. Practices began for those seniors who would be acting in the Senior Class play, THE BIRDS AND THE BOYS. "Old Man Winter" practically refused to leave, as a long series of spring rains and late blizzards hit the area. Despite this, the spring sports teams swung into action as the month progressed.

Hi Jean,
I am glad you picked us at the class day assembly and I want to wish you the best of luck in whatever you may choose. Remember always all the fun during our high school days, and I'll see you around.

Moments

"Ooh la la," "aloha," and "yippee" were three passwords to an enchanting evening of music and laughter as the students of A Cappella, Band, and Orchestra cavorted through Paris, Hawaii, and Texas.

The Euterpean singers began the evening's entertainment with a gay revue "In Gay Paree." The all-too-brief glimpse of this world-renowned city included love songs, folk songs, and dances.

The DHS band and orchestra students presented a "Musical Melange." Featured on the program were the majorettes, Hawaiian and South American rhythms, and a skit "Sunday Drivers or Maniac's Revenge."

Dancing Jerry made a very convincing French waiter.

The Euterpeans sang to Madame Jeannette.

The Floradora sextette intrigued the audience.

Mary Margaret and Janet danced an Irish jig.

The majorettes were colorful Indian maidens.

Musical

Seniors, as student conductors, presented many of the numbers of the evening.

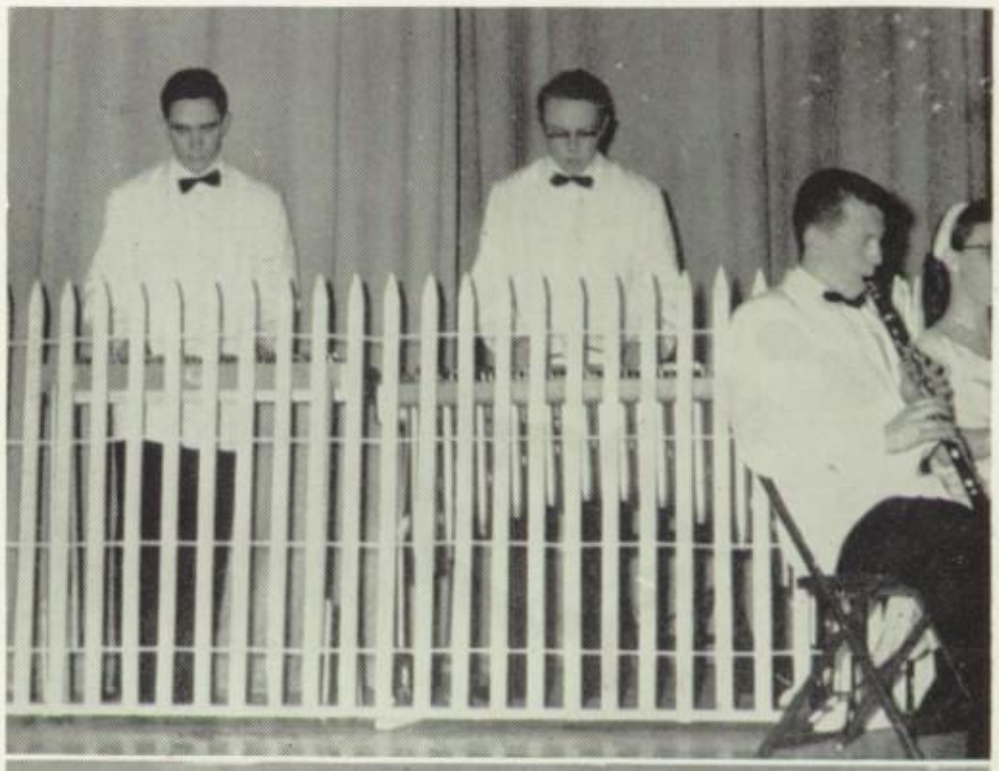
A Cappella Choir sang the praises of Texas as they depicted life in the state of "The Lone Star." An old-fashioned railroad station formed the background for Sam Houston, the Floradoras, Methuselah, the Harvey girls, passengers and cowboys. Student organists presented music between acts.

Congratulations went to Miss Pansy Legg, Miss Helen Wolff, Mr. W. B. Holl and the fine cast for an entertaining evening.

Hula skirts added to the atmosphere of Hawaii.

A samba rhythm provided background music for Marty and Judy.

Ken and Jim played a marimba duet "Serenade to a Picket Fence."



The "Gandy Dancers Ball" brought a lot of activity to the stage.

A Cappella serenaded Texas, the Lone Star state.

The Birds and the Boys

A rising young architect and his pretty new bride arrived at their home, only to find themselves embroiled in a feud. The neighborhood parents were fighting to drive Youthville, a boy's reformatory, from the edge of town. The Martins found themselves torn between obligations to their neighbors and sympathy for the youngsters. The story centered about how they solved their dilemma and at the same time prepared for a national architecture contest. The solutions that they found provided the audience with an evening of rollicking entertainment.

Miss Mary Miller and her cast of seventeen seniors presented an excellent performance.

City Administration

The education of a child is a difficult thing to accomplish. The problem of providing for the education of every child in a city the size of Danville is proportionally more difficult. For this reason, Danville was fortunate in having a group of individuals who devoted a great portion of their time to this problem. A great part of the work done in the City Administration was done by the school board. It was composed of civic-minded citizens of the city, who served their terms without pay.

Part of the administration's duty was the continued evaluation and improvement of the educational policies of Danville. Toward this end the board formed three study committees. These committees were under the direction of consultants from the University of Illinois, and Dr. J. McLean Reed, the Superintendent of Schools. The field of "Pupil Population" was investigated by Dr. Merle R. Sumption's group. This group compared present enrollment figures with estimates of the study made two years ago and revised their predictions accordingly.

Chairman of the "Pupil Program" committee was Mrs. Helen Coolley. They determined the goals and purposes of the Danville educational system. The Committee on "Pupil Welfare" attempted to identify and evaluate the contribution of the many factors which affected the total learning experience of the school. Head of this committee was Mr. George Buck.

Another aid to education that the city supplied was the Visual Aids Office. Directed by Miss Brandenberger, it supplied the schools with movies and recordings. The money in the schools was processed through the business office. Proceeds from ball games, plays, and other activities were handled by Mr. Hayes, Mr. Froman, and their staff. With such dedicated men and women as these, Danville was assured of a good educational system.

High School Administration

Danville High School was very fortunate in having as members of its administration four very capable and interested people. Many students have received valuable help and advice from these individuals.

Mr. E. D. Milhon has been principal of DHS for the past eight years. He has put forth much time and effort in furthering the education of the youth of today. His patience, understanding, and wise counsel have made him a friend to students and teachers alike.

Wit and tolerance exemplify to the students and faculty members Mr. D. V. Schoolcraft. This energetic individual holds two very important titles around DHS: Assistant Principal and Dean of Boys.

Miss Helen M. Thompson, Dean of Girls, is one of the most popular faculty members around the school. Besides her duties as dean, she served as adviser for Student Council, Y-Teens, and student monitors. These organizations will agree that she is Another counselor for DHS students is Mr. E. A. Bates. As Guidance Director, his duties are many. Students come to him for advice in adjusting schedules, rearranging programs, and preparing for college.

Other members of the High School Administration include all the workers in the various offices. The secretaries in Mr. Milhon's office are all kept busy typing bulletins, checking reports, keeping student records, handling correspondence, preparing honor roll lists, and taking charge of a lost and found department. The attendance office kept accurate record of the students in school.

Cafeteria and Maintenance

Twelve hundred students eat lunch every day in the cafeteria. In order to accommodate this large number, a new time system was organized. Fourth hour study hall students studied for half the period, ate, and then returned for the second half.

Mr. Orville Cole was responsible for the operation of this elaborate feeding system. With the aid of a staff of eleven women and one custodian, he provided four hot lunch lines and one sandwich line. After many years of service, Mr. Melvin Pickett, the cafeteria custodian, retired at the end of the school year.

Maintenance staff kept the school running. The group was divided into three main parts; the shop group, engineers, and custodians. Superintendent of Buildings, C. J. Plymire headed the shop group, who did work in all the schools in the district. Mr. Earl Hartshorn was in charge of custodial force. They kept halls, rooms clean in addition to maintaining lights, clocks, windows, etc. The engineers were responsible for the heating plant which warmed the building. They also operated the swimming pool and kept the water supply constant for DHS used its own well water for its needs.

Senior Class

Miss H. Wolff, adviser; Larry Shanks, president.

The class of 1957 awaited graduation with feelings of mixed emotions. Never to be forgotten were the fun-filled four years spent at D.H.S. Who can forget the exciting moments at the games and other sporting events, the plays, and Moments Musical? We'll remember for a long time all the fun and work involved on the Mother Goose characters for the "Once upon a time" prom and the big "Spirit Jug" for the Homecoming parade.

We were guided through our freshman year by Chuck Ferris as president. Hugh Himan presided our sophomore year. Dave Neupert, as junior class president, undertook the responsibilities for the prom. Chosen to lead us through our final year was Larry Shanks, assisted by Bob Mills as vice-president, Myrna Pichon as historian, Carol Whelan as social chairman, and Ruth Blue, Marilyn Coolley, and Donna Sue Denton as student council representatives.

The various committees were headed by Ed Hillenburg, color; John Caughron, motto; Elmer Nicklas, song; Dorothy Taylor, invitations; Don Maiden, gift; Gloria Gardner and Judy Duncan, assisted by Dick Yaeger, class day; and Bob Mills, booster. Miss Helen Wolff served as adviser.

The class song was composed by Kayann Garretson and Ken Hoffman. We chose copen and white as our colors, and we honored Myrna Pichon and Ed Miller as our "Best Citizens." Heeding our motto "Push on, success is near" we faced the future with confidence.

Standing: M. Pichon; B. Mills; C. Whelan. Seated: M. Coolley; D. Denton; R. Blue.

Standing: E. Hillenburg; J. Caughron; E. Nicklas; D. Yaeger. Seated: D. Taylor; G. Gardner; J. Duncan. Absent: D. Maiden.

Best Boy and Girl Citizens

Ed Miller and Myrna Pichon were kept busy with work on the Medley.

Two very deserving seniors, Ed Miller and Myrna Pichon, were selected as the best boy and girl citizens, respectively, for 1957. They were chosen for dependability, service, leadership, and patriotism as well as honesty, punctuality, cooperation, helpfulness, personality, self-control and initiative.

Myrna's active participation in school organizations helped make her well-known and liked by many students. She served as girl president of A Cappella Choir, treasurer of Girls' Club, Senior Class historian, and was also a member of Student Council, Y-Teens, Medley staff, F.T.A., and Dramatic Club. Attractive, as well as versatile, she was Homecoming attendant both her junior and senior year.

Ed was also a very popular student around the halls of D.H.S. He played basketball for four years, captaining the team his senior year. He was also on Student Council, Medley staff, B.A.A., and F.T.A.

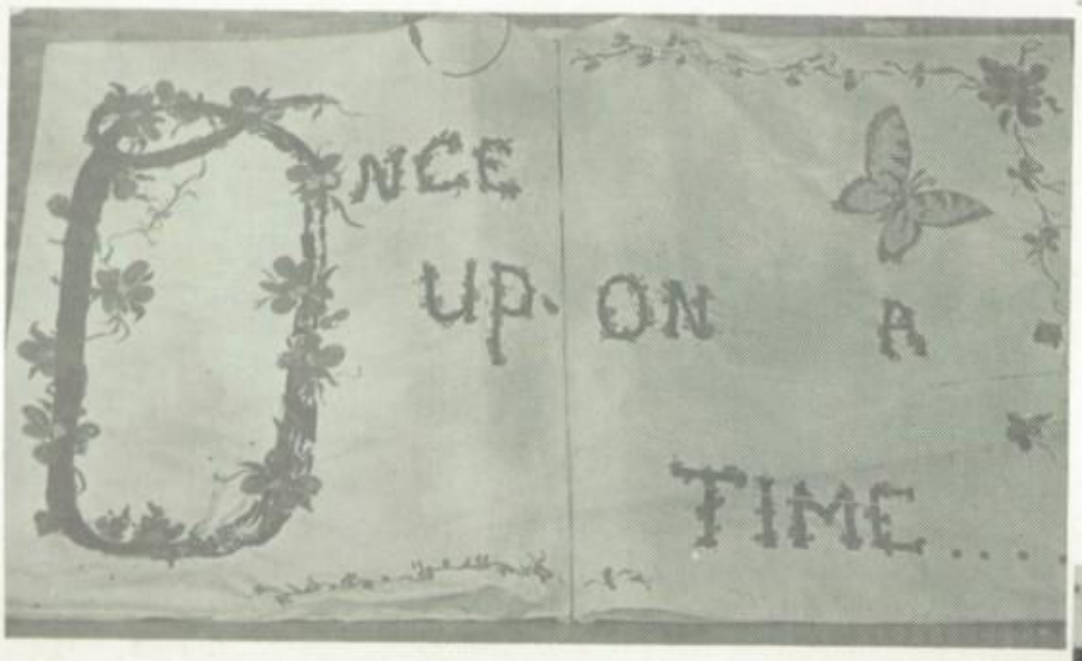
Awards were presented to the best citizens by the American Legion, Kiwanis Club, and both the Sons and the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Ed enjoyed his duties as basketball captain.

Myrna's time was well occupied with A Cappella activities.

1953-1957
In Review

In 1953, about 600 green freshmen were welcomed to the halls of learning at D.H.S. Their first social function as high schoolers was the freshman skating party. By September of 1954, like veterans, they embarked on their sophomore year. Speech class was required and most of them enjoyed the many speeches.



In September of 1955, high school careers half over, as juniors they assumed the responsibilities of upperclassmen, and the presentation of the prom. The fall of 1956, as seniors, they presented a Homecoming float complete with four pert cheerleaders.

Junior Class

Miss B. Sullenberger, adviser; John Demos, president.

The members of the Junior class began the year with high anticipations of being upperclassmen for the first time. Although their work in such courses as American Literature, American History, Trigonometry and Chemistry sometimes turned into a slight struggle, there were always many social events to keep them from becoming frustrated.

The Junior-Senior Prom was the big social event of the year as far as the juniors were concerned. Linda Sue Miller, as social chairman took capable charge of all plans. Chairmen of the various committees were Larry McCoy and Patricia Songer, decorations; Carolyn Soneson, invitations and programs; Jane Graham, publicity; and Diane Deck, refreshments. Approximately forty other juniors were members of these committees.

Junior officers were John Demos, president; Kenny Harrigan, vice-president; Fran Bivans, secretary-treasurer; Linda Sue Miller, social chairman; and Bill Freivogel, Bob Martin, and Sharon Songer, student council representatives. Miss Betty Sullenberger was the adviser.

Standing: S. Songer, F. Bivans, L. Miller, W. Freivogel, J. Meek, K. Harrigan, R. Martin. Seated: J. Demos.

The Juniors in American Literature classes improved their reading speed by using the shadowscope in the Reading Laboratory.

Sophomore Class

S. Bookwalter, president; Mr. Ward, adviser.

Having survived the first year of their high school career, the sophomores eagerly shed their green coats and settled down to a busy year of studies and activities. The most common subjects taken by sophomores were Plane Geometry, Biology, World History, English 3, consisting mainly of Shakespeare, and Latin consisting mainly of Caesar.

The annual class party was the main social event sponsored by the sophomores this year. The dance was in the form of a "backward" party (everyone came wearing their clothes backward). The D.H.S. Swing Band played music while a floor show provided entertainment. This event was held in February and was in charge of Diane Corenman and Scott Bookwalter. The sophomore class took charge of serving refreshments at the Homecoming Dance in October.

Scott Bookwalter was the very capable class president and was assisted by Vice-President, Ronald Boyd; Secretary-Treasurer, Verna Furr; Social Chairman, Diane Corenman; Student Council Representatives, Steve Golseth, Janet Pergakes, and Jerry Taflinger; and the adviser, Mr. Joe Ward.

In Memoriam

Norman H. Rindt

Danville High School was greatly saddened by the drowning of Norman Rindt in the summer of 1956. The accident occurred during a swimming outing on Lake Vermilion.

Norman Harry Rindt was born in Danville on June 27, 1940, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rindt. Active in school life, he was a graduate of Cannon Grade School, and was to have been a sophomore this year. Norman was also a Commercial-News carrier for five years.

Norman's untimely death was a shock to his many friends, and also a great loss to DHS and the community.

The sophomores braved the Green Wave in the Homecoming parade.

The officers did extra duty as refreshments highlighted the sophomore party.

Freshman Class

L. DeMoss, president; Mr. Zeiter, adviser.

This year's "greenies" entered high school eagerly, but somewhat shyly. Getting used to the huge study halls, crowded corridors, lunch rush, and chaos in general was quite a problem at first, but the novelty soon wore off and the freshmen were able to adjust.

One of the first tasks of the Class of 1960 was to elect their officers. Larry DeMoss was elected president; Glen Keever, vice-president; Mary Lou Bender, secretary-treasurer; Peggy Hall, social chairman; and Jim Tuggle, Melissa Allen, and Janice Knight, student council representatives.

English, social science, and physical education were required subjects for freshmen, while mathematics, foreign languages, homemaking, and shop were optional. Courses in music could be taken but they were not considered solid subjects and therefore no credit was given for them.

Clubs interested the freshmen after they had acclimated themselves to their subjects and teachers. Athletics also attracted many students. In April the class had its first school party under the supervision of the class officers.

With a feeling of satisfaction at having completed a successful year in D.H.S. the freshmen began looking forward with high expectations to becoming sophomores.

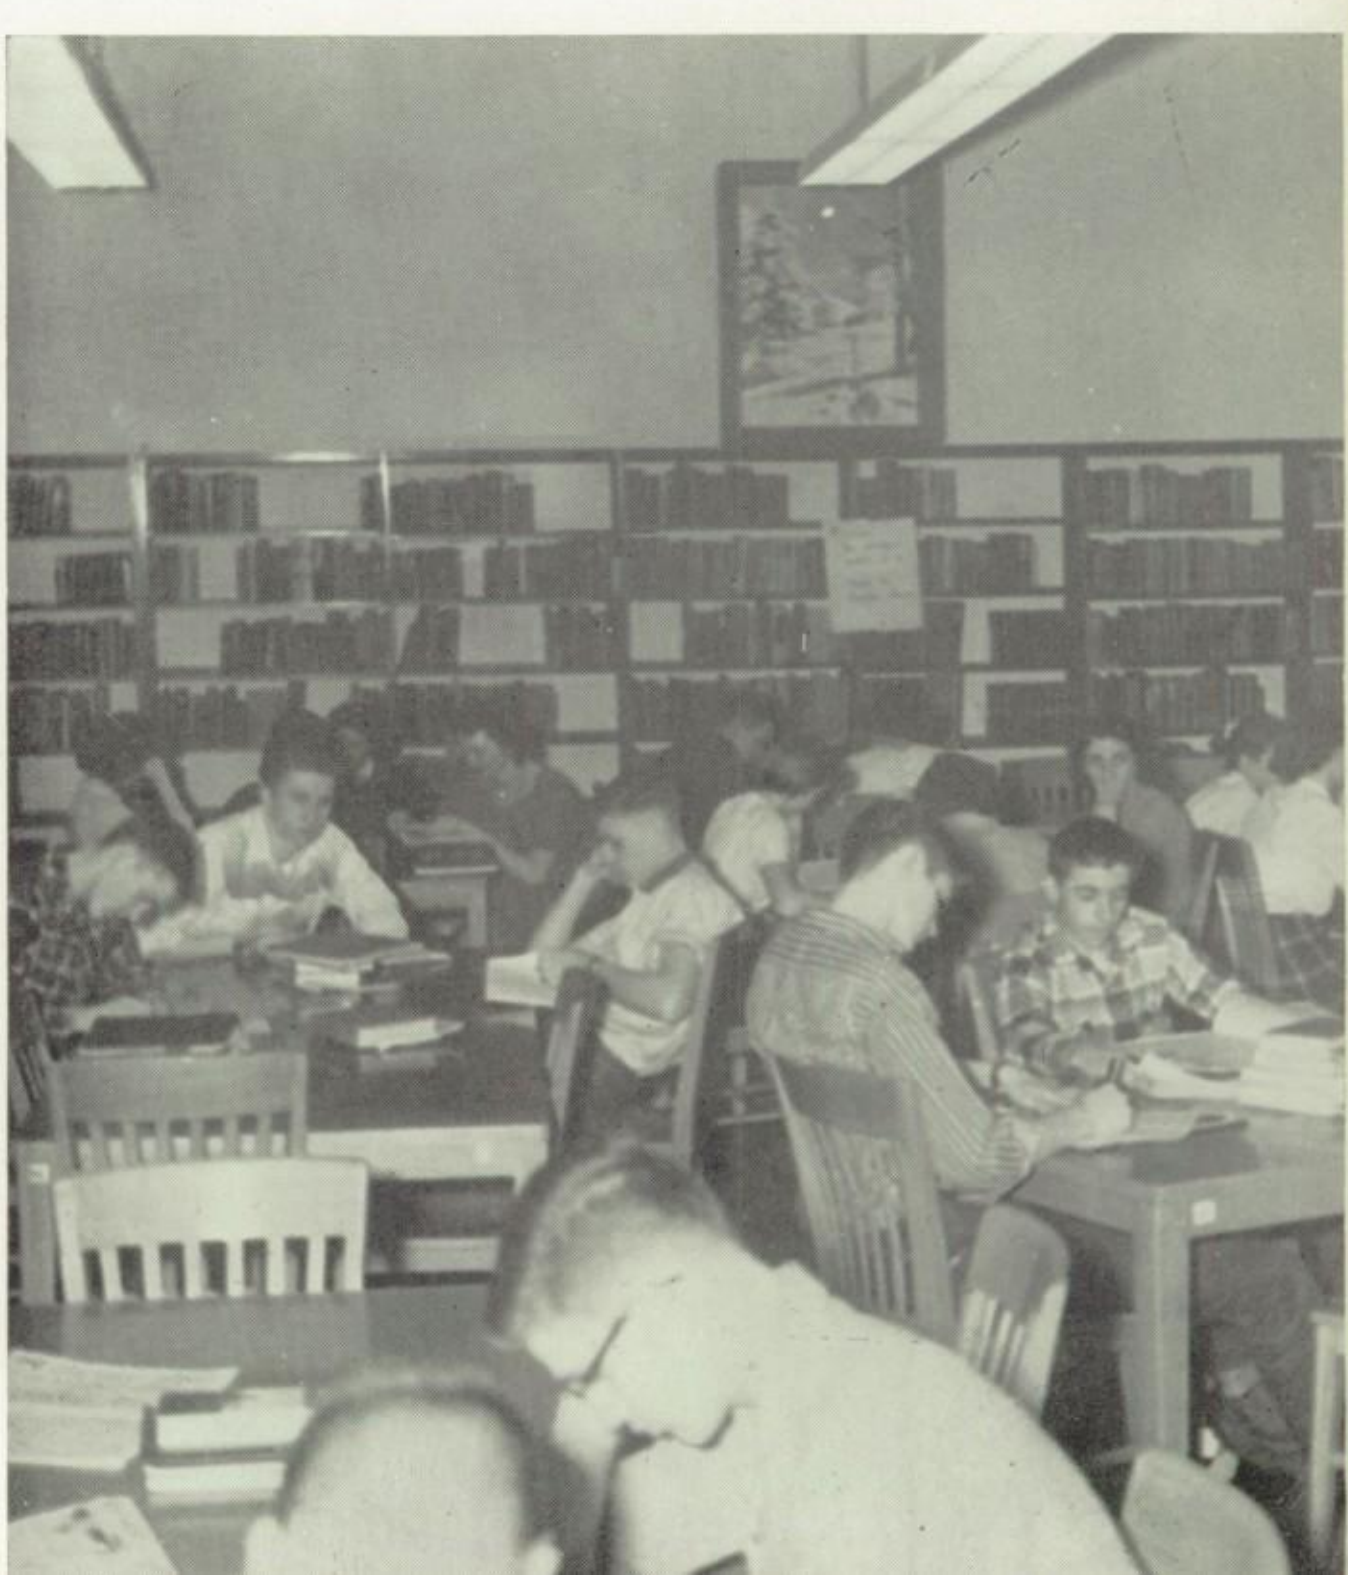
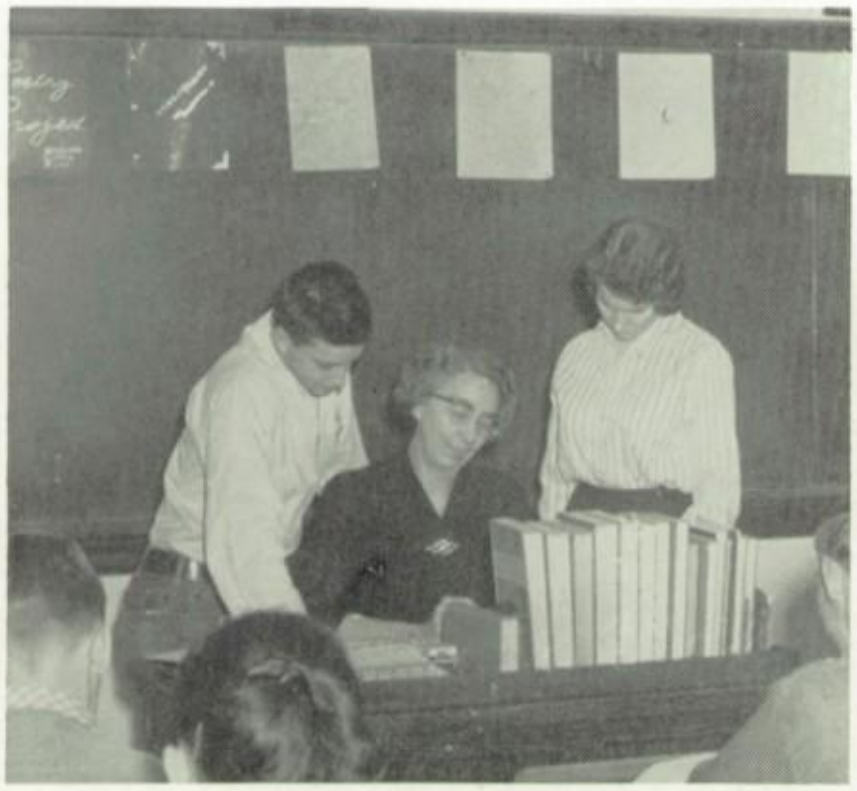
Glen Keever and Maggie Dodson led freshmen cheers from the Homecoming float.

MEDLEY

Days were filled with classes. Divided into eleven departments, our school offered a wide diversity of courses and excellent facilities designed to train us for college or vocational pursuits.





Projects were the center of discussion in Miss Boyer's American literature class.

English Department

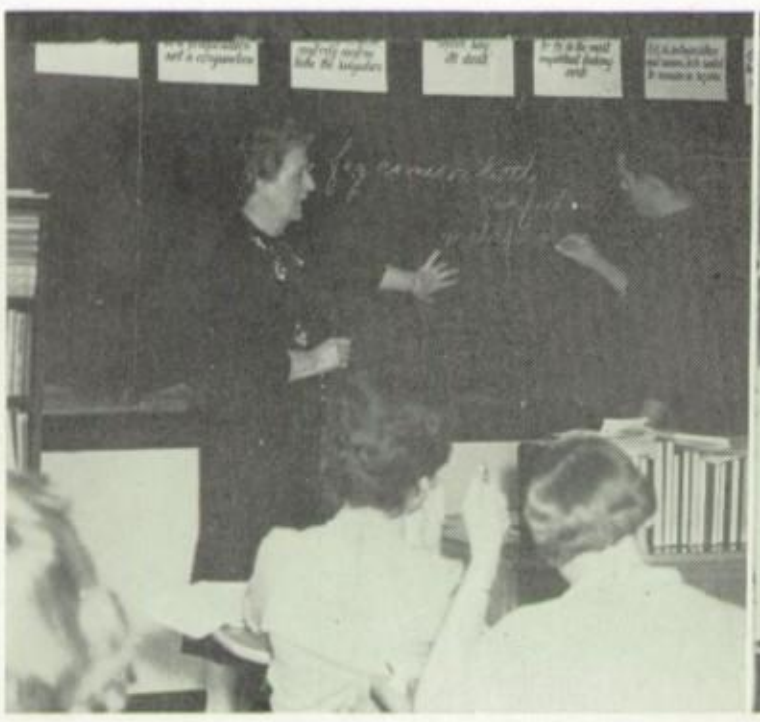
The English department is the largest department in D.H.S. The courses offered in English are very useful both during and after high school days. A quotation from Harold E. Palmer states:

"Language is primarily the thing we think with; it is more than mere communication."

English is a required subject for three years. The freshman course is a combination of literature, composition, and grammar. Sophomores take one semester of composition with Shakespeare as their main object. The second semester is devoted entirely to public speaking. Juniors and seniors are offered American literature, English literature, and senior grammar. The latter of these is especially valuable as a college preparatory course.

This year a new type of reading laboratory was set up in room 248. This room was equipped with shadowscopes, books, and films. The objectives of the laboratory were to increase speed, comprehension, flexibility, and vocabulary in reading. Although it was more or less an experiment this year it has proven to be very successful by the fact that students' reading rates have improved tremendously.

Miss Miller explained figures of speech to Jim and to the rest of her senior grammar class.



The reading laboratory, located in 248, was a popular innovation this year.

Social Science Department

Mr. Hinton's American History class studied Jamestown.

The Social Science Department taught students the important lessons of life and living in the community. Two courses, Social Science and American History, were required for all students desiring to graduate. The rest were optional.

Social Science was to freshmen a kind of orientation subject which helped them to bridge the gap between grade school and high school. In it, students prepared projects on the community and future occupations.

Next came World History, a course designed to show its students the history and background of the various countries of the world. Modern History complemented the course by concentrating heavily on the major events which have changed the modern world.

American History provided an opportunity for students to learn about the history of our great country. A major project was required of all students.

Several one semester courses in psychology, sociology, government, modern problems, and geography were also offered. These courses helped to make high school students useful citizens.

Freshmen hunted for vocational project material in Social Science class.

Townships were discussed in the Government class.

Science Department

A study of photosynthesis interested Mr. Hebermehl's Biology students.

The Science Department provided four different courses for DHS's budding scientists. The first course, General Science, offered to freshmen and sophomores, was designed to give the students an insight into the major areas of science. By learning a little from each area the students were able to choose the fields on which they would concentrate.

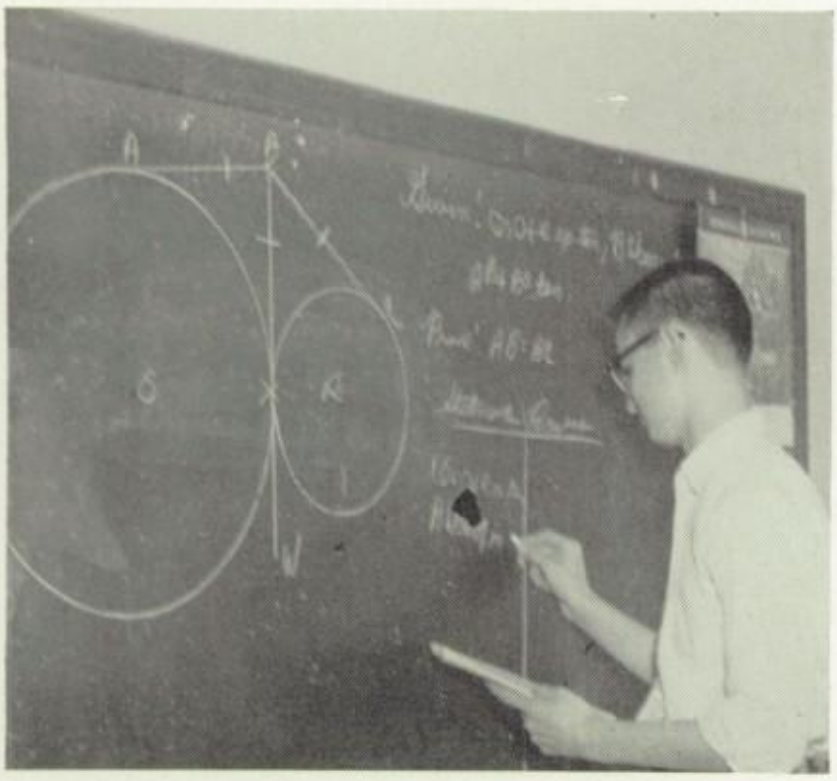
After General Science came Biology, a study of life and its processes. One of the major projects of the course was the leaf study. Each student was required to collect and identify the numerous leaves native to Danville.

Chemistry was open to upperclassmen, and it consisted of studying the composition of various substances. The study of molecules, atoms, electrons, and the rest of nature's building blocks helped the chemists to understand the reactions they made in the lab.

The fourth course offered was Physics, which revealed the forces of nature which cause the phenomena of everyday life. It explained why music sounds pleasant, how a block and tackle makes work easy, why atomic bombs go boom, and many other things.

Chemistry students worked with burette tubes in the lab.

The boys tested tuning forks and studied sound in Physics.



The study of tangency was included in Plane Geometry.

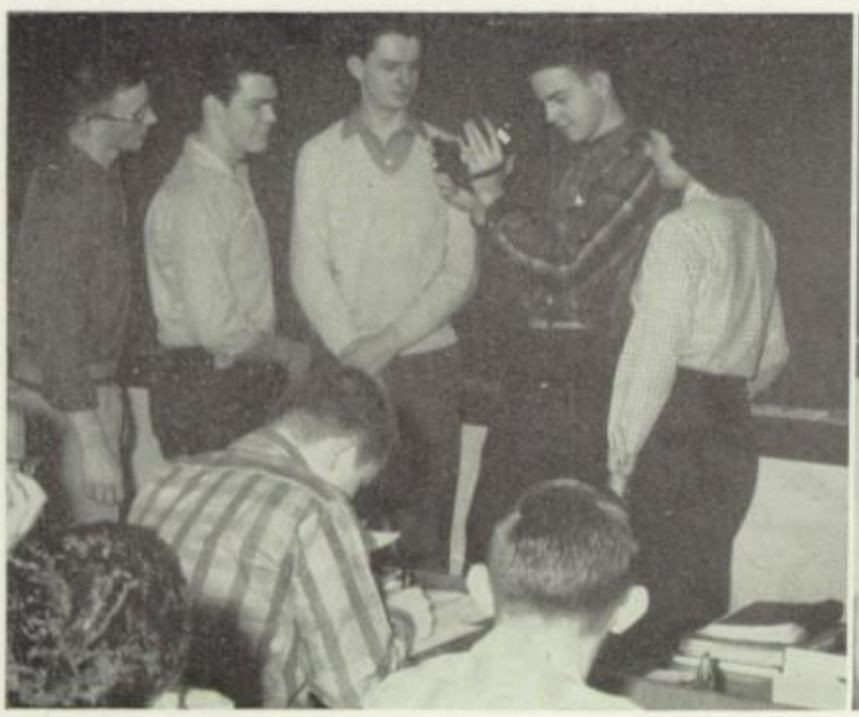
Mathematics Department

The Mathematics Department was instrumental in providing the tools needed to live in everyday life and it helped those taking science courses and those planning to enter engineering.

Freshman year offered general mathematics and Algebra 1 and 2, which introduced the students to dealing in symbols, such as x and y. It also instructed them in the basic procedure for using mathematics. Sophomores found that Geometry 1 and 2 dealt with plane figures such as triangles, squares, and other polygons. The students learned to think logically as they worked out proofs.

Algebra 3 brought complex numbers, second degree equations, determinants, and logarithms. Students alternately blessed and denounced Napier (inventor of logarithms) as they completed their log projects. This year the order of studies was changed, moving Solid Geometry to the senior year, while Trigonometry was pushed back to the junior year. In the final semester, a course in College Algebra was offered which covered more advanced topics.

Use of the quadrant caused discussion in the Trig class.



Marilyn explained a word problem in College Algebra.

Art Department

Decoration of the Christmas tree occupied the Art students.

The students in DHS were fortunate in having offered to them a four year course in art. The first year of art began with an introduction to the subject. Second year students learned about fine art and worked with water colors and oil paints. The history of art and continued oil painting made up the subject matter for third year students. During the fourth year the students concentrated upon individual work. Originality, an asset to all good artists, was emphasized.

Miss Sullenberger, besides teaching art, also was the Driver Training instructor. The first six weeks were spent in learning the rules of the road. After the students passed a test, they received a drivers' instruction permit. Learning the fundamentals of driving, the students were allowed to drive in the Driver Training car one day a week. At the end of the semester, they were examined by the driving inspector and received their license.

Posters were drawn by the busy students in 307.

Larry and Judy sang a duet in Moments Musical, the Music Department's biggest production.

Music Department

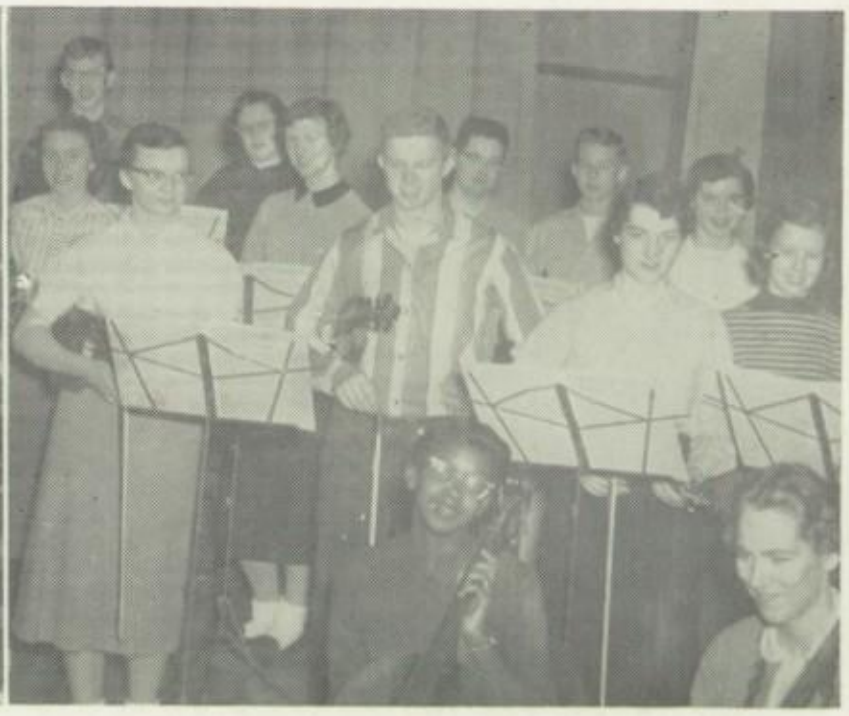
Music played an important part for many DHS students. The DHS music department was composed of two major parts, vocal and instrumental. The band and orchestra, both junior and senior portion, formed the instrumental part, while A Cappella, Euterpeans, and the boys' and girls' chorus classes formed the voice section.

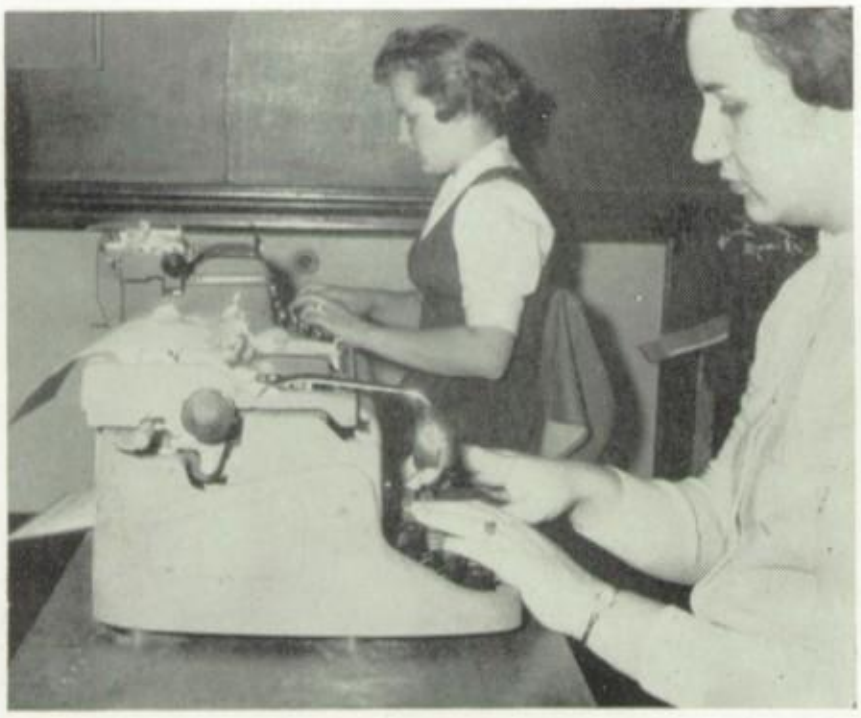
Freshmen signed up for the chorus classes, moving up as they improved through the classes and into A Cappella. In special events, such as Fall Concert and Moments Musical, the Euterpeans group was drawn from the main chorus.

Orchestra members developed their talents in Junior Orchestra and then graduated into the Senior Orchestra. They presented a special Christmas assembly. Sixth hour at school was enlivened by the Band. The music makers played at many athletic contests, assemblies, and programs. In all the classes, students learned the theory and appreciation of music.

The Boys' Chorus enjoyed singing during the third hour.

Senior Orchestra prepared to tune up.





Bess and Patty enjoyed Personal Typing.

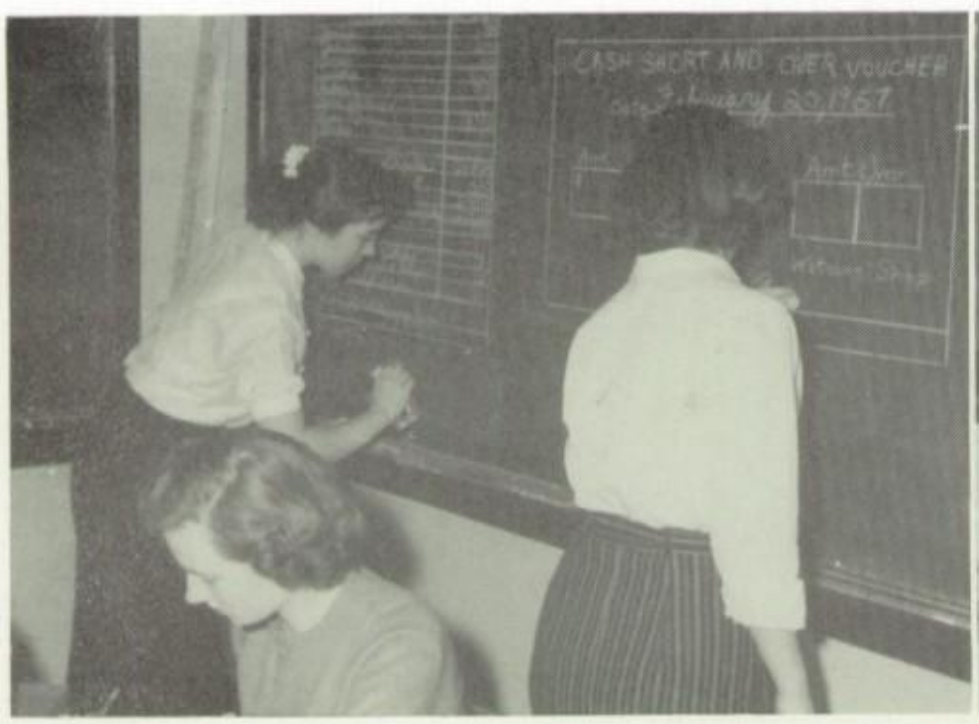
Commercial Department

Students who planned to enter business were given much basic training in the Commercial Department. Not only were a variety of courses offered, but through Distributive Education the students could get on-the-job training.

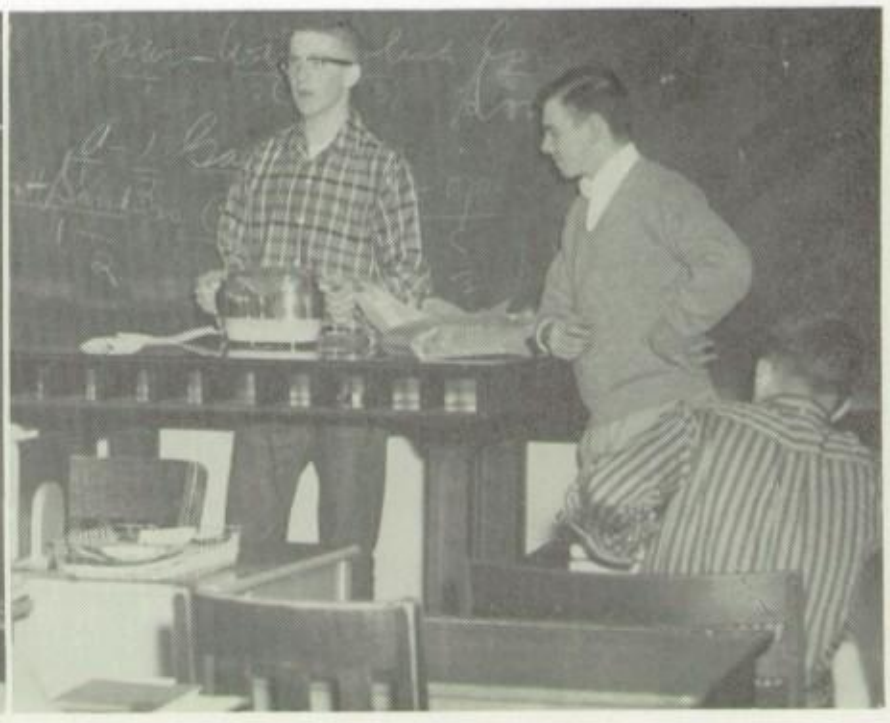
Business Training taught freshmen the fundamentals of business, such as check writing, posting, etc. Bookkeepers were instructed in the proper methods of taking inventory, keeping yearly records, and making invoices.

The first step in learning shorthand was to master the basic characters. By dictating and transcribing letters every day, the student's speed was increased. Before they could actually begin typing, the typists were required to acquaint themselves with the care of the typewriter and the arrangement of the keyboard. Then, by typing against the clock, they improved their speed and accuracy. Office Practice taught the students how to use the various machines found in an office, such as the IBM Electric typewriter, and other office procedures. In Business Law, students learned of agents, employers, sales, contracts, and other procedures in the light of law.

Accurate records were studied in Bookkeeping class.



Salesmanship students practiced selling techniques in class talks.



Industrial Education Department

The Building Trades class erected their project house on North Vermilion Street.

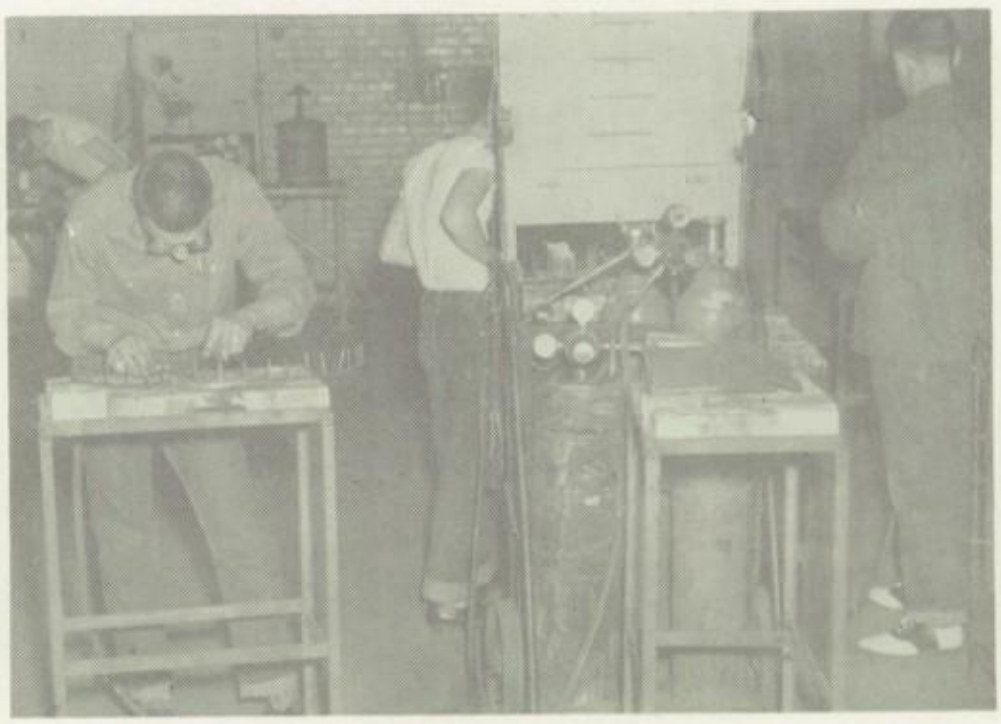
The Industrial Education Department offered training in the manual arts which gave students useful knowledge for their vocations. First step taken by the freshmen was Exploratory Shop. This provided them with a general knowledge of many fields and gave them an opportunity to specialize in their favorite.

Mechanical Drawing students learned the fundamentals of drafting, and many worked on architectural drawings. Machine Shop gave the students a good opportunity to study simple and complex machines. In Sheet Metal Shop students worked with metals to make gutters, fixtures, etc., while in Printing Shop they learned to set type, which was useful for making signs, and even name cards. Wood Shop students discovered the basic facts of woodworking. Students also learned the rudiments of welding in shop.

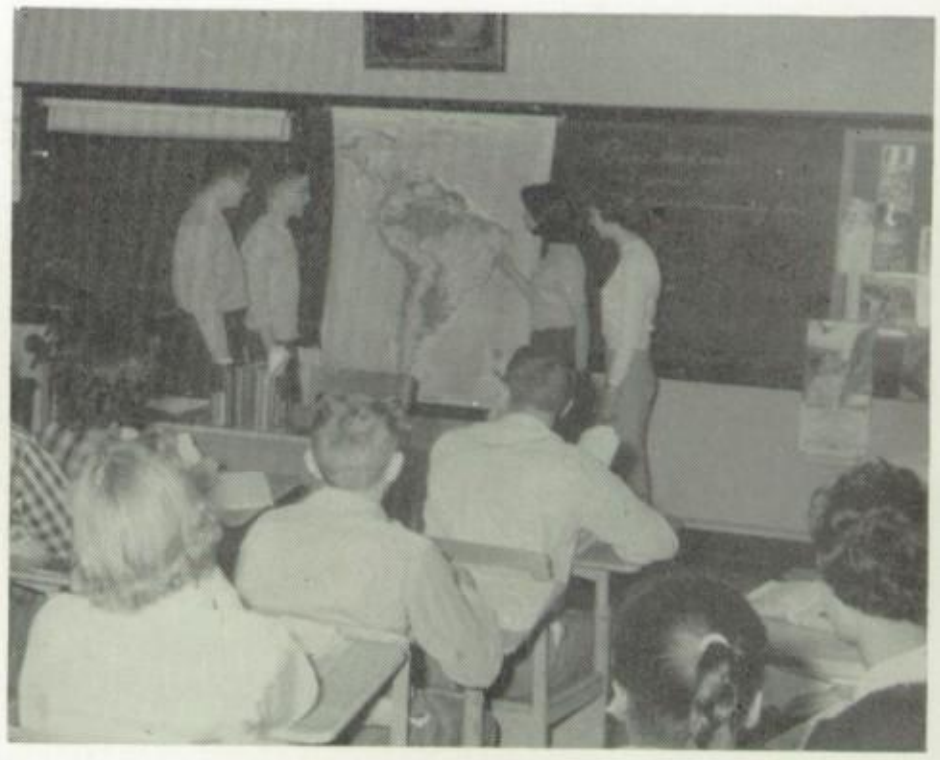
When the craftsmen gained skill and proficiency they worked on a more ambitious project. The Building Trades group, with the aid of Allied Trades Council, built a house. Each student in the project worked three hours a day, either in the morning or the afternoon. This was the sixth year that the group has placed a house on the market. The proceeds will be used for next year's house.

John worked with the jointer in Woodworking class.

Welding was introduced as a new course this year.



Foreign Language Department



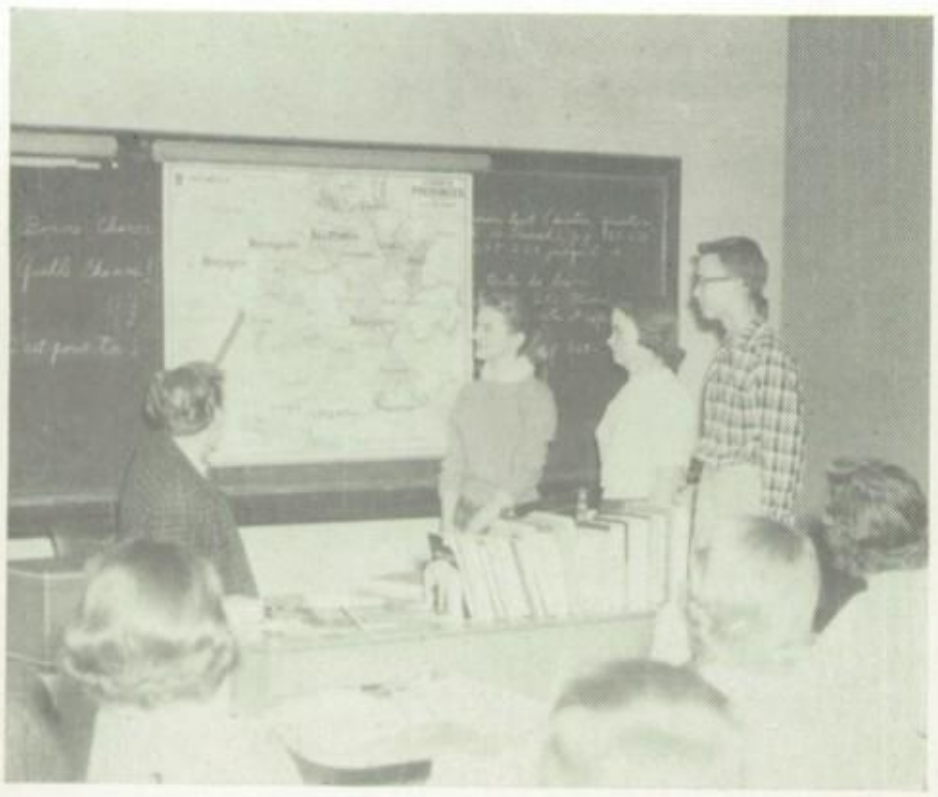
South America was pointed out by the Spanish students.

Latin, German, French, and Spanish were available to students who wished to learn foreign tongues. Since the Romance languages are all founded on Latin, it stood out among them. The literature in the four year course ranged from Caesar to Cicero. While no longer spoken as a language, the study of Latin was vital to students going into medicine and law.

Spanish, the language of south of the border, was offered for four years also. After six semesters of training in diction and vocabulary, the students read novels written in Spanish. French, a two year course, was useful for those interested in fashions, foods, music, literature, and diplomacy. German was learned by translating old legends.

In a time when the most remote peoples on earth are only a few hours away knowing many languages has become a need. The language department helped to meet this need.

Miss Shutts' French students studied the map.



German students were eager to participate.

Nancy Arnholt was the live model for baby care study in Homemaking class.

Home Economics Department

The Home Economics Department was designed to help the girls to become competent homemakers. It was divided into three courses: cooking, sewing, and home management. When the students enrolled as freshmen, they took homemaking which gave them a sample of each course. After the first year, they specialized in any one or more of the three fields.

DHS was fortunate in having a large and modern kitchen in which the students who took cooking could work. In these classes, marketing, nutrition, table service, and manners were stressed, in addition, of course, to the basic course of cooking.

The sewing classes learned how to operate a sewing machine, interpret commercial patterns, and build a wardrobe. Home Living and Home Management were courses in preparing girls for managing their future homes. They also learned about child care.

The girls made icing with the electric mixer in Foods class.

Judy worked on her new dress in Miss Potter's Clothing class.

Basketball was popular in the Girls' P. E. classes.

Physical Education Department

P. E. kept the student body in good shape. The program called for six required semesters of physical education for every student.

Girls' physical education was just as active as the boys. They learned how to square dance and social dance, in addition to such activities as tumbling, roller skating, and ping pong. Team sports were not neglected, for the girls also played baseball, basketball, soccer, and speedball. Swimming was open to juniors and seniors.

Boys' P. E. included sports that varied with the seasons. In the fall they played touch football; in the winter, basketball; and in the spring, track. They also wrestled, tumbled, swam, and played baseball, volleyball, and kickball. In the swimming class the boys played water polo and keep-away.

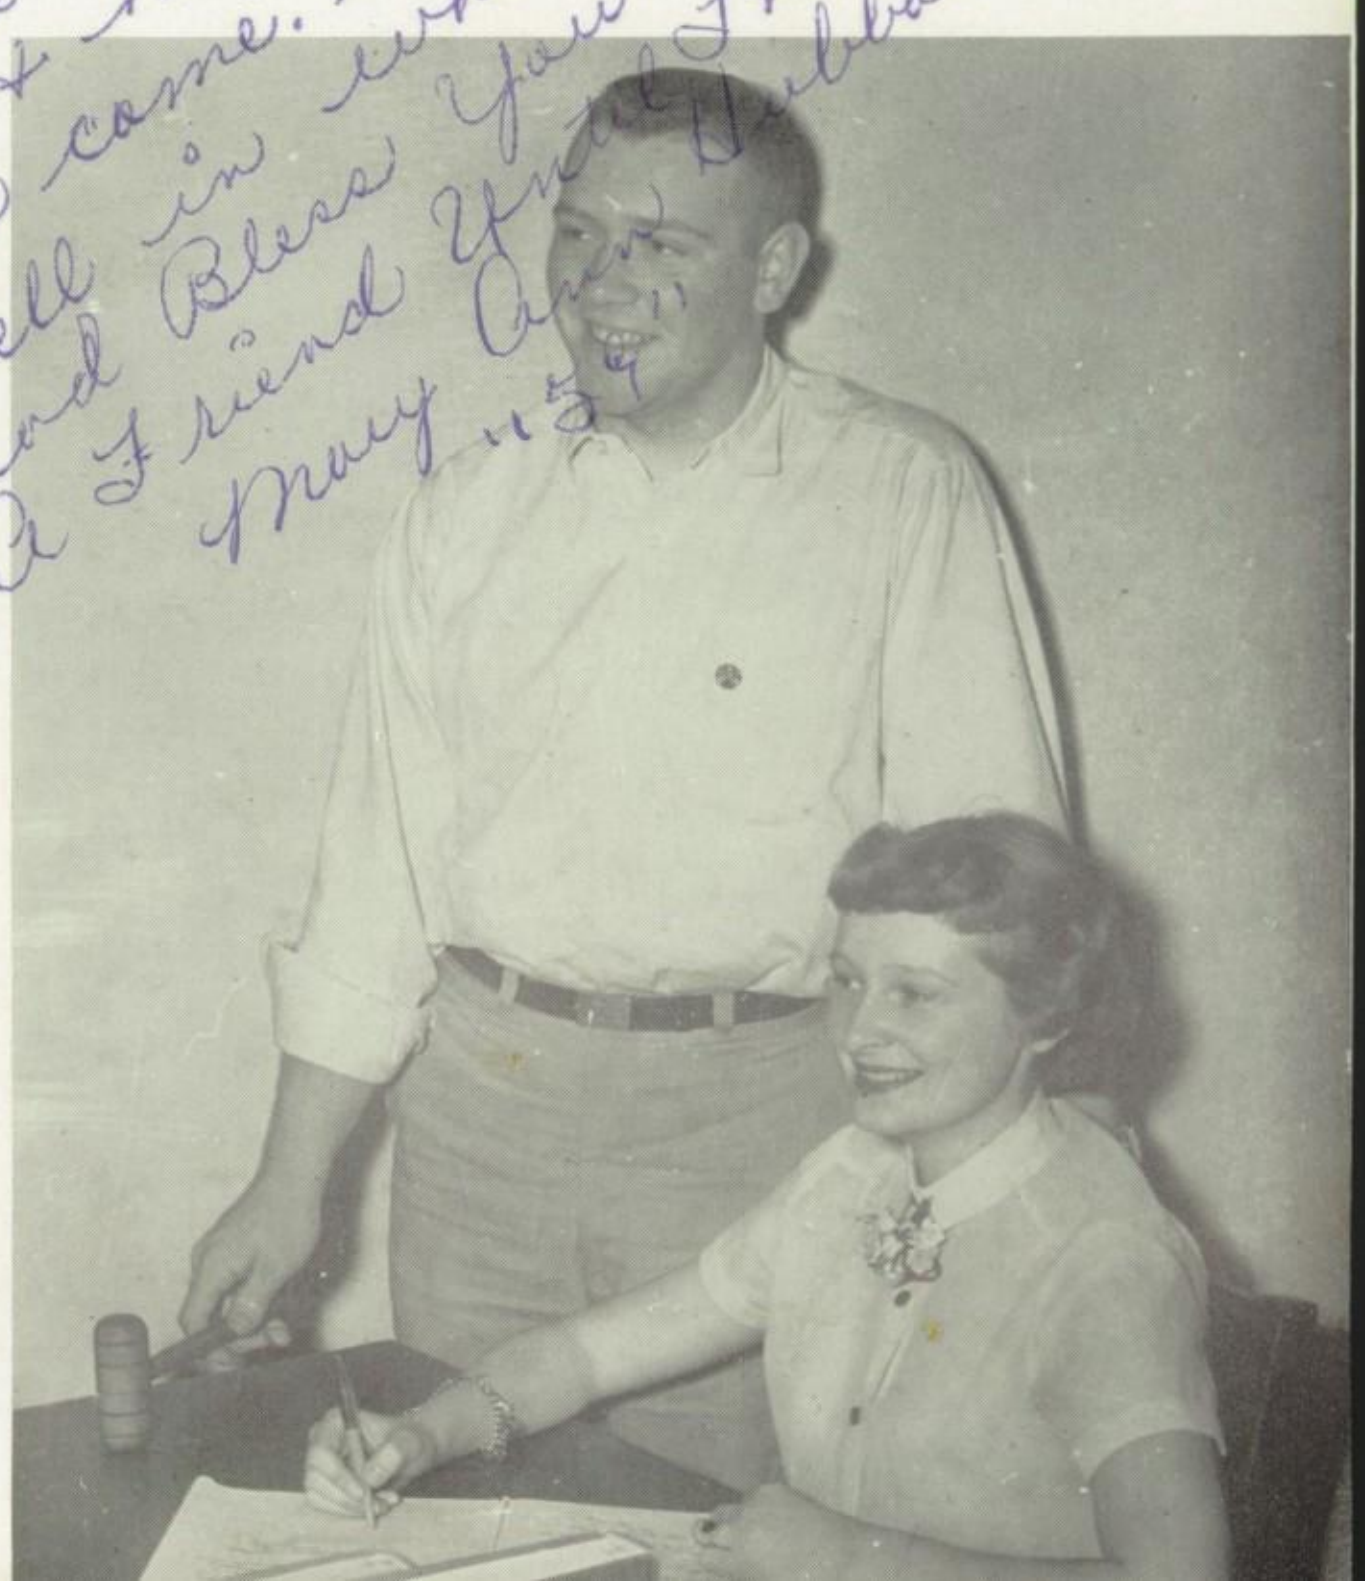
Part of both classes was devoted to hygiene. Freshmen and sophomores spent one day a week learning how their bodies operated and how to take care of them.

The boys enjoyed tumbling in Mr. Ward's P. E. class.

John went high on the trampoline, a new addition to the P. E. Department.

MEDLEY

Life during and after school was well filled with extra-curricular activities. Special groups, such as music and journalism, and clubs of general interest offered opportunities for our students to pursue a wide scope of interests.



Hi Jean,
Remember Topping

Medley

Miss Watkins, adviser; W. Hasty, editor.

The fifty-fourth volume of the DHS yearbook, The Medley, originated in the summer of 1956. At this time the theme was chosen and the general plans for the book were laid. At the beginning of the school year, members of the individual staffs started work on their particular assignments.

Wayne Hasty, editor-in-chief, was kept busy with the book layout; planning, cutting, and photography. His job also consisted of the general co-ordination of each staff.

Advertising was headed by Hugh Himan, assisted by Ruth Blue and Myrna Pichon. They directed the fall ad campaign in which the entire staff participated. Rosanne Smith, circulation manager, and her assistant, Rex Waldron, were in charge of Medley sales. An assembly was held in October, at which time the student body signed up for their books. Accurate accounts of expenditures and income were recorded by Norma Jenkins, bookkeeper.

Organizations Editor was Judy Barnett and School Editor was Donna Dettman.

ADVISERS. Standing: Mr. Byers, Mr. Hogbin.
Seated: Miss Sullenberger.

STAFF HEADS. Standing: T. Allen, D. Dettman, J. Davis, H. Himan.
Seated: R. Blue, R. Smith.

STAFF ASSISTANTS. Standing: N. Jenkins, J. Zeiter, J. King, J. Kienietz. Seated: C. Whelan, R. Waldron, M. Pichon.

ORGANIZATIONS STAFF. Standing: M. Ruggles, E. Miller, P. Ragle. Seated: P. Clendenen, A. Castle.

ART STAFF. S. Mack, M. Cottrell, J. Prettyman, C. Drews.

These girls and their helpers planned and arranged the class and organization pictures. Terry Allen, copy editor, and his assistant, Carol Whelan, wrote the copy for the entire book. The Danville Junior College section of the Medley was planned and written by Jim Davis, assisted by Judy King, Jeannine Zeiter, and June Kienietz.

Miss Frances Watkins, head adviser, worked closely with the staff and guided the Medley over the rough spots. Miss Betty Sullenberger advised the Art Staff and other advisers were Mr. Billy Byers and Mr. Finley Hogbin.

SCHOOL STAFF. H. Schendel, P. Anderson, C. Griffin, S. Krainock, J. Duncan.

BUSINESS STAFF. Standing: S. Lind, B. Spicer, R. Krauel, T. Ave. Seated: C. Smith, S. Davison.

Maroon and Standing: Miss Stapp, W. Graff. Seated: J. Brandenberger, editor.

Informing the student body of the happenings around the school was the job of Maroon and White staffs. The organization operated Danville High School's newspaper, which was issued once a week. The group was divided into two sections, the editorial and the business staffs. While the editorial staff wrote the copy, the business staff handled the money, subscriptions, etc.

In charge of the many duties necessary to an attractive paper, including writing headlines, laying out stories, and writing the news, was John Brandenberger. The various other editors included assistant editor, Bill Graff; news editor, Christine Paras; feature editor, Sandra Kelsheimer; co-sports editors, Bob Martin and Ken Harrigan; copy editor, Marilyn Coopersmith; Nancy Goulding, typist; and record keeper,

Second row: J. Chioles, G. Coopersmith, R. Andrew, R. Yeager. First row: D. Deck, L. Miller, N. Strawser, A. Muster, C. Paras.

J. Filler, J. Cox, D. Talbert, W. Freivogel, R. Martin, K. Harrigan, A. Cox, D. Wire.

White

Al Cox. Adviser for this staff was Miss Katherine Stapp.

Besides selling ads and writing ad copy, the business staff performed numerous other duties such as selling cokes, seeing that the paper was delivered to the various homerooms every Friday morning, and selling senior name cards. The heads of the business staff included Judy Righter, business manager, first semester; Dick Burow, business manager, second semester; Marilyn Coolley, advertising manager; Judy Baldwin, extra income; Dick Burow, circulation manager, first semester; Minnette Watson, circulation manager, second semester; Carol Holycross, exchange; and Pat Fox, bookkeeper. Miss Esther Cowan was the adviser for the business staff.

Standing: Miss Cowan, adviser; P. Fox, M. Coolley, J. Righter, C. Holycross.

Miss Conover, adviser, L. Harnden, R'Lou Johnson, co-editors.

Cub Staff

In Room 302 prospective journalists met every morning during the homeroom period to learn the job of writing a newspaper. Their adviser, Miss Helen Conover, taught them during the course of the year something about every phase of newspaper work. They practiced writing editorials, features, sports, and news articles. They also learned how to lay out ads and how to write ad copy and eye-catching headlines.

Then, in the spring, the group put out their own Cub Edition of the Maroon and White. The editor assigned stories, the reporters gathered news, the business group put in advertising, and the page editors drew up their pages. Then, when the dummy came back from the printers, the staff "proofed" the paper and sent it back for final printing. On Friday, their edition was delivered to the school.

The co-editors of the paper were R'Lou Johnson and Lois Harnden. Other staff editors were Phyllis Bekemeyer and Susan Strauss, news; Charlotte Rewerts and Bill Carskadon, editorials; Linda Stuebe and Tom Means, features; and Dave Williams and Bill Ashby, sports. The art and photography staffs were headed by Jim Altenstadter, Gary Blankenburg and Bill Cunningham. Alice Dorsey and Ronnie Shaw were in charge of ad make-up.

Standing: G. Brownstein, P. Bekemeyer, G. Blankenburg, W. Carskadon, J. Hickman, B. Katz, L. Harnden, R'L. Johnson, J. Altenstadter, W. Cunningham. Seated: D. Jorstad, P. Elliott, A. Dorsey.

International Club

Standing: Miss Shutts, adviser, B. Cunningham, B. Pergakes, G. Coopersmith. Seated: H. Widdis, M. Coopersmith, president.

"Ubi ignis est?" "Carambas Que pasa?" "Je ne sais pas." "Was it los?"

These strange looking phrases were well understood by the nearly eighty students who were members on International Club. The purpose of this organization was to improve international relations through the study of languages, customs, and the people of foreign countries. To become a member, one had to have taken one of the four languages offered in the school's curriculum.

The meetings were held on the second Monday of each month. Some of the programs during the year consisted of talks about European travels by Miss Helen Thompson, Judy Righter, and Carol Whelan, and a talk on experiences in Africa by Dr. Glidden Baldwin. At the end of the year Legion of Honor certificates were presented to the language students who ranked high during the school year.

President Marilyn Coopersmith was in charge at all meetings. Helen Widdis served as vice-president, Gary Coopersmith as secretary, Bill Cunningham as treasurer, and Bess Pergakes as program chairman. Miss Frances Shutts served as the adviser.

Marilyn, Helen, and Bess discussed plans for the meeting.

Bill Dancey entertained with an American Indian dance.

Radio Staff

Standing: Mr. Purkey, adviser; B. Payne, L. Brownfield, B. Butler, C. Paras, P. Fox, J. Gill. Seated: P. Ragle, general chairman.

Radio Staff, led by Mr. R. D. Purkey, adviser, had a very active season this year. The broadcasts which were produced every Friday from 3:40 p.m. until 4 p.m. over radio station WDAN, originated in the Little Theater. Some of the programs of the 1956-57 season included the presentation of the athletic teams, various school clubs and other high school highlights and representatives from Danville Junior College.

Auditions for available positions on the staff were held near the beginning of the school year. After the auditions were completed and the staff was chosen, a party was given for the new members.

Special officers on this year's staff were Patsy Ragle, general news and general chairman; Larry Brownfield, announcer; Christine Paras, general news; Bill Butler, sportscaster; Pat Fox, publicity; Jim Gill, special feature; and Bill Payne, maintenance and sound effects.

Jane Ingram helped announce the Projectors Club feature.

Tryouts were held in early December.

Mr. Purkey and other staff members were interested in the WDAN transmitter.

Dramatic Club

The DHS Players was the only competitive club in school. At the beginning of the school year all prospective members were required to give a reading before a committee of faculty members, who served as judges. Those who survived the "tryouts" were initiated as new members at the first club meeting.

The club was divided into various play groups who presented one-act plays at the meetings. These plays were student directed and provided the basis for the selection of the cast of the annual Dramatic Club play.

The club's main activity was the presentation of "Dr. Hudson's Secret Journal" in February. Thespian credentials were presented to the members who excelled in dramatic ability and achievement in the club.

Officers for 1956-1957 were Ada Mary Castle, president; Judy Duncan, vice-president; Judy Righter and Bess Pergakes, secretary-treasurer; Bradley Johnson, play manager; Linda Sue Miller, play critic; and Patsy Ragle, Thespian credentials.

Standing: P. Ragle, L. Miller, B. Johnson, J. Duncan, J. Righter. Seated: Miss Miller, adviser; A. Castle, president.

"School Bus Romance" was one of the one-act plays enjoyed by the members.

Brad, Carol, and Terry danced at the annual Christmas banquet.

PLAY DIRECTORS AND ASSISTANTS

Second row: J. Graham, J. Hensley, H. Levin, S. Shane, J. Hickman, R. Powell, L. Peters. First row: J. Baldwin, C. Whelan, G. Gardner, J. Sprouls, M. Firebaugh, N. Johnston, J. Stifler, J. Chioles.

Worth-While Writers

Standing: J. Roberts, president; G. Reed, R. Waldron, H. Clark.
Seated: Miss Boyer, adviser.

"We will work!" was the motto this year for the Worth-While Writers Club. This DHS organization was made up of approximately twenty-five members who assembled on the first Thursday of each month in Room 212. Their chief purpose was to increase and improve their writing of both prose and poetry. Original writings were turned in by the students to the critic, Helen Clark. The best of these were read and discussed by the members at the club meetings.

At Christmas time the club concentrated on writing several seasonal articles, consisting mainly of poems. Some of these were published in the Christmas issue of the Maroon and White.

The highlights of the year included a Valentine party in February and a radio broadcast in April. In the latter month, the club also presented a program for the PTA.

Officers for this year's group were Jacqueline Roberts, president; Gladys Reed, vice-president; and Rex Waldron, secretary-treasurer. Miss Mildred Boyer was the club's adviser.

Judy entertained the club members with her reading.

Gladys, Helen, and Marsha read their original prose and poetry at one of the meetings.

Wranglers Club

Speakers Bureau

Wranglers Club, founded in 1911, is the second oldest club in DHS. It was organized to encourage students to participate in debating and all kinds of public speaking. Students are given the opportunity to speak, present skits, give readings, and sing before an audience.

At the club's annual Thanksgiving assembly, the play "Turkey Gobblers" put the student body in the mood for Thanksgiving.

Sandra Clary, president, was assisted throughout the year by John Caughron, vice-president; Mary Oreskovich, secretary; Babs Spragg, program chairman; Margo Firebaugh, membership chairman; and Ada Mary Castle, social chairman.

Speakers Bureau, an honorary division of Wranglers Club was headed by Jack Hill. It was made up of students who had given two "A" speeches before the club. The group met every morning in homeroom 172. Certificates were awarded to those who had been in Speakers Bureau for more than two years. Mrs. Grace Sprouls and Mr. John Jenkins were co-advisers.

The president and advisers took time out from their duties to pose for the cameraman.

Renate Kling explained some pictures from her German homeland.

Girls' Club

Standing: B. Pergakes, president; M. Pichon, Mrs. Rewerts, adviser; C. Smith, P. Anderson. Seated: M. Coopersmith.

". . . a constant desire to gain and pass along the best things in life." This theme was a fitting one for Girls' Club. Judged by the results of its projects, Girls' Club was one of the hardest-working organizations in DHS.

A ceremonial for new members was held at the beginning of each semester. Speakers for some of these meetings were Mrs. Jack Wilson, in September, and Susan Strauss, Diane Deck, Christine Paras, and Judy Righter in January.

President Bess Pergakes presided over the business meetings, which were often followed by style shows, class programs, or parties. Other officers included Peggy Anderson, vice-president; Carol Smith, secretary; Myrna Pichon, treasurer; and Marilyn Coopersmith, pianist. Sally Lind, Gladys Reed, Nancy Jarling, Linda Drews, Linda Stuebe, Helen Widdis, Judith Dickson, and Sally Mack served as committee chairmen.

ADVISERS

Standing: Miss Wright, Miss Brown, Mrs. Sturm. Seated: Miss Conover, Mrs. Rewerts, Miss Haviland.

The junior skit was entertaining and colorful.

Tem, Sarah Jane, and Nancy helped with the September ceremonial.

Student Council

Student Council gave the students a chance to have a voice in school government. The organization was composed of representatives of each class, captains of sports, and presidents of clubs and organizations. It began the year by having a "get acquainted" tea for transfer students. It then prepared the homecoming festivities. Besides organizing activities, it also sponsored a clean-up campaign and a courtesy drive. During the spring the group focused its attention on the All-School party. The proceeds went into the paid assembly program fund. For the second time, the council raised money to bring a foreign student to DHS.

Officers for the council included president, Terry Ave; vice-president, Chuck Ferris; secretary, Sandra Clary; and treasurer, Wayne Hasty. Miss Thompson served as adviser.

Standing: W. Hasty, S. Clary, C. Ferris. Seated: T. Ave, president.

In February, the members visited shut-ins at Vermilion County Nursing Home.

Miss Thompson, state adviser, and Judy Righter, district secretary, discuss their respective positions.

Terry conducted a meeting in 246.

Y-Teens

Standing: B. Daly, M. Oreskovich, P. Anderson, J. Baldwin, K. Johnson, M. Archey. Seated: M. Holmes, adviser; J. Caughron, president; H. Thompson, adviser.

Y-Teens is a club for girls organized in connection with the Y.W.C.A. They met twice a month and each month they sponsored a service project. Membership to Y-Teens was also a Y.W.C.A. membership and the girls used that building for meeting and parties.

Highlights of the program for 1956-57 consisted of a recognition service, Thanksgiving and Christmas meetings, clothes and accessory discussion, chili-swim and hobo parties, career planning panel, Easter meeting, Mother's Tea, and senior recognition.

Y-Teens strived to develop a girl's personality and character through worth-while activities. To be a Y-Teen meant that a girl tried to "grow to be" the finest person she could become in body, mind and spirit. A Y-Teen tried "To face life squarely and to find and give the best."

Officers were Judy Caughron, president; Kay Johnson, vice-president; Barbara Daly, secretary; Mary Archey, treasurer; Judy Baldwin, reporter; Peggy Anderson, program chairman; and Patsy Ragle and Joan Davis, music chairmen. Mary Oreskovich had charge of the dance committee, and Kay Johnson and Myrna Pichon were co-social chairmen.

Other offices were held by Janice Hayes, Sandra Moss, Wanshula Camp, Barbara Howard, and Mary Marshall. Advisers were Miss Helen Thompson and Miss Marjorie Holmes.

A panel on careers interested the members.

An interesting discussion took place as a result of this panel.

Hi-Y

Standing: Mr. Fink, Mr. Byers, Mr. Young, advisers. Seated: M. Miller, D. Gledhill, president; B. Wodetzki, W. Groben.

The aim of Hi-Y is to create and maintain, throughout the school and community, high standards of Christian character. Hi-Y was an organization open to any boy in Danville High School. It was operated through the co-operation of the high school and the Young Men's Christian Association. The group had an attractive and varied program. One portion of the program included field trips. The club members made tours through various local industrial plants. Another important part of their activities was the series of lectures. In these addresses the members heard doctors, ministers, coaches, and other leading citizens of the community speak on many different topics.

Besides lectures, the meetings often featured panel discussions. After the formal business meeting was concluded, games and refreshments were generally provided. Occasionally, there was a free swim at the Y.M.C.A.

A major undertaking of the Hi-Y in the spring was the Youth and Government Day held in Springfield. At this meeting the members elected a governor and other officers from their own number. The officers then "took over" the Illinois government for a day, passing bills and doing other things that are a part of a legislator's duty.

This year's officers included president, Doug Gledhill; vice-presidents, Dave Long, and Carl Stellwag; secretary, Marty Miller; treasurer, Bruce Wodetzki; and chaplain, Bill Groben. Mr. Byers, Mr. Young and Mr. Fink served as advisers.

The boys enjoyed games at all meetings.

Dr. Dickerson was the speaker at a December meeting.

R. Hodges, C. Horton, R. Rodman, president; R. Wyatt.

Projectors' Club

Visual aids has played an increasingly larger part in the curriculum of our present-day education system. However, without the aid of the approximately fifty-five boys in Projectors' Club the office could not have operated as efficiently as it did. In order to carry out the various jobs that were assigned to them, the boys were required to give up several study halls a week. Besides operating the projectors, the group also worked on other jobs affiliated with audio-visual work.

The club's special activities for the year included a trip to the University of Illinois for the State Projectionists' meeting and a spring picnic.

Miss Grace Brandenberger was the director of the club and her secretary was Miss Judith Ostenburg. Officers for the year were Bob Rodman, president; Keith Beam, vice-president; Russell Engleman, secretary; and David Hewson, treasurer. Mrs. Price and Mr. Bennett were advisers for homeroom in 249.

Members of Projectors' Club took time out to have their picture taken during homeroom.

Art Club

Standing: C. Rhodes, president; J. Ingram, D. Moore, A. Nelson. Seated: Miss Sullenberger, adviser.

Art Club was composed of students who had a great deal of appreciation for art. The group had a busy schedule this year. Two of their full projects included holding a membership party and making homecoming posters. At Christmas time the club turned its abilities toward making Yule cards. In keeping with the holiday spirit, they also held a Christmas party. The group kept alive one of its long-standing customs by decorating the north hall.

Several well-known artists in Danville presented interesting talks during the year. Among these was Annetta Boyd who informed the club about an Art Correspondence Course. The year of activities was climaxed with a spring picnic.

Officers for the year were Connie Rhodes, president; Jane Ingram, vice-president; Doris Moore, secretary; and Ann Nelson, treasurer. Miss Betty Sullenberger, head of the DHS art department, was the adviser.

Christmas cards were made at the December meeting.

A visit to WDAN proved that radio and television were here to stay.

Science Club

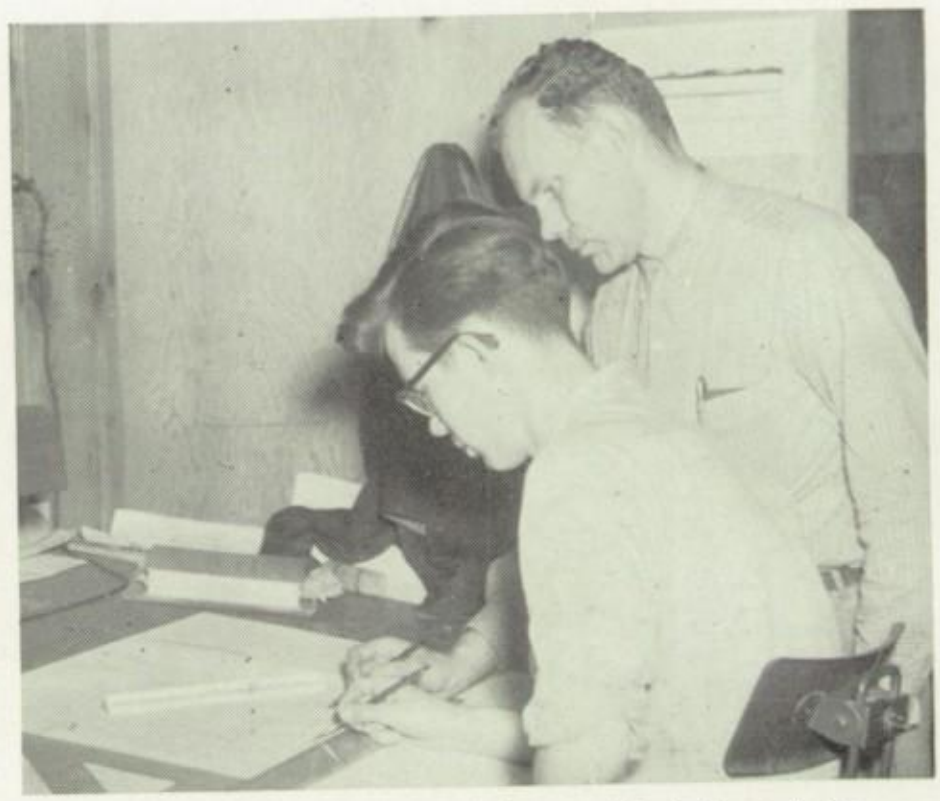
How about taking a trip to the moon, or perhaps the stars, or anywhere in the realm of nature, for that matter? The DHS Science Club did these things and more through the many informative talks presented at each meeting. The group was composed of students interested in science, such as physics, chemistry, biology, and astronomy. The members were generally enrolled in science courses at school, but this was not a requirement for membership. The meetings were highlighted by several speakers. Among them were Mr. John McCormick, who gave a talk on gemstones, and Kit Shinnall, who spoke on rockets.

The club took several field trips to see science in action. They toured the WDAN Radio and TV Station and the General Electric Plant. Spring plans called for a trip to Chicago. Another project was the making of displays for the annual Science show at Normal University. Jim Gill was president, while assisting him were David Morrison as vice-president; Carole Carpenter, secretary; and Wayne Hasty, publicity chairman. Mr. Seip was the club's adviser.

Standing: C. Carpenter, W. Hasty, D. Morrison, Mr. H. Seip, adviser.
Seated: J. Gill, president.

Mr. Seip and the members studied a hexahexaflexagon they had made.

Diversified Occupations



Mike Upperman worked as a draftsman at E. S. Moore & Co.

A cooperative arrangement between DHS and local business firms allowed junior and senior boys to learn a trade while completing their high school education.

The system required a student to spend two class hours in regular subjects and one hour in D.O. class. The student then spent the remainder of the day working at his particular establishment.

The student learned the skills of his trade and at the same time received apprentice pay.

In the six years that the course has been offered, thirty-eight firms have participated.

This year the program included the following: Jack Allen, an auto mechanic at the International Harvester Garage; Shelby Lane, an auto mechanic at the Green and Dreher Garage; William Bartlett, a battery builder and repairman at the Haas Battery Company; Ronald Juvinall, a printer at the Sears Paper Box Printing Company; Gordon Shetterly, who worked at binding and packaging at the R. & S. Corporation; Wilson Thomason, who learned cash register repair at the National Cash Register Company; Kenneth Westfahl, pre-mortician at Barrick and Sons; Charles Cramer, as meat cutter at Kuemmerle Market; and Michael Upperman, a draftsman.

Standing: W. Thomason, Mr. Smoot, adviser; R. Juvinall. Seated: D. Sherrill; C. Cramer, R. Payne, K. Westfahl, B. Bartlett, M. Upperman, G. Shetterly.

Auto mechanics proved an interesting job to David Sherrill at Barkman Chevrolet Co.

Future Distributors of America

Standing: P. Chandler, N. Hires, Mr. Newtson, adviser; J. Spencer, S. Jones. Seated: L. Stevens, president.

The Future Distributors of America, perhaps better known as Distributive Education, was a club organized to help the high school students learn the fundamentals of salesmanship while remaining in school.

Every day the D.E. students attended one hour of a regular school subject. Then they would attend two hours of Distributive Education classes. During these classes the F.D.A. members learned such fundamentals of basic retailing as display, buying, selling, employing, promotion, and merchandising. This was the basis of their curriculum. Classwork alone, however, could never replace actual on-the-job training. Therefore, every afternoon the members worked in retail stores around Danville, using the knowledge they gained in class and learning new tricks of the trade.

Distributive Education was begun in 1948, and it just completed its tenth year with an enrollment of twenty members. The program was made possible by the far-sighted merchants of Danville who provided jobs for D.E. members. They not only provided D.E. members with experience, but they also paid them at apprentice rates.

The Future Distributors were guided by their adviser, Mr. Lawrence A. Newtson; president, Larry Stevens; vice-president, Juanita Spencer; secretary, Pat Chandler; treasurer, Nona Hires; and reporter, Sandra Jones.

Standing: P. Chandler, S. Weir, W. Dubree, P. Miller, N. Hires, J. Randall, S. Barnes, S. Jones, J. Spencer, J. Williams, L. Byerly, D. Spickard, R. Ford, A. Putnam, P. Shaffer, B. Birge, K. Kimball. Seated: L. Stevens.

Future Teachers of America

"Today was my saddest day of all, because it was my last. Almost in tears, I made my little farewell speech and left. I have never had such a rewarding experience."

The preceding paragraph was taken from the diary of one member of the Introduction to Teaching class. The class gave senior students the opportunity to experience actual teaching. The group spent the first six weeks studying the theory of teaching.

The second period was devoted to observing teaching in action. To accomplish this the students went out to various grade schools, studied the various methods of teaching, and followed up with reports on their visits.

Their basic training was put into good use during the third period when they began practice teaching. The first four days of each week were devoted to teaching and the fifth was spent analyzing the week's work. Each student kept a diary recording his daily teaching experiences.

For the first year, the F.T.A. was divided into two groups, one for each semester. Officers for the class were president, Gloria Gardner; vice-president, Kayann Garretson; secretary, Donna Sue Denton; and historian, Marilyn Coolley. The class was ably advised by Miss Stapp.

Helen Schendel was typical of all FTA members as she talked with Laura and Jerry, Northeast School first graders.

Senior Band

Under the direction of Mr. W. B. Holl, the DHS Band had another music filled year. The group was very evident at sporting events, such as the football and basketball games. However, this was not all the band accomplished. Each member worked hard at mastering both his instrument and his music. As a result the group provided DHS with many pleasant performances during the year.

Highlights for the year were the two big public performances, Fall Concert and Moments Musical. In the Fall Concert the group concentrated on several more serious pieces, while for Moments Musical they played many light numbers. In both shows they teamed up with the orchestra, the majorettes, and dancers to give the audience a delightful evening of entertainment. The group had band parties after each performance.

At the annual Swing Ding the musicians were given awards for their service in the field of music. Head of the Senior Band was president, Ken Hoffman. He was assisted by vice-president, Dick Burow; secretary-treasurer, Ada Mary Castle, and board members Bill Butler and Bill Cunningham.

Senior Orchestra

The DHS Senior Orchestra was a varied organization. At the regular rehearsals during the third hour, strings composed most of the group. In special events, however, members from various sections of the band joined them to form a complete orchestra.

The group played major roles in the Fall Concert and Moments Musical. Also, during the half-time in our Homecoming game, they presented an exhibition on the field with the band. The orchestra was represented by several of its members in the Big 12 Music Festival at Champaign. These representatives included Minnette Watson, Donna Sue Denton, Eva Huff, Sandra Clary, Janice Hayes, Karol Norman, Carol Mielke, and Rosemary Fagan. Donna Sue Denton and Minnette Watson were also delegates from Danville to All-State.

Officers for the year were Minnette Watson, president; Sandra Clary, vice-president; and Sandra Vandiver, secretary-treasurer. Eva Huff, Janice Hayes, Rosemary Fagan, and R'Lou Johnson were board members.

A Cappella

Each morning the A Cappella Choir was hard at work practicing its vocal art. Beginning with "vocalizes," the group sang various songs. Depending on the season, they worked on melodies for the Fall Concert, Moments Musical, Graduation, Christmas, and other occasions.

First came Fall Concert, in which the group played two roles, A Cappella and Euterpeans. Then, during the Christmas season, they added to their activities by caroling in the halls, and singing for the Christmas assembly. As usual, they put forth their greatest efforts in Moments Musical. While the A Cappella portrayed a scene from Texas, the Euterpeans skillfully presented a Parisian tableau.

Officers for the 1956-1957 school year were the co-presidents, Myrna Pichon and Dave Neupert; vice-presidents, Judy Meek and Terry Park; secretary, Darla Drews; treasurer, Chuck Ferris; monitor, Terry Dazey; and librarians, Georgia Turner, Emily Jones, Larry McMillan, and Helen Clark. The choir was directed by Miss Pansy Legg while Miss Helen Wolff accompanied.

Library Club

The educational heart of any school is its library. Of the nearly 1800 students in DHS, probably half that number attended the library weekly, and some even more often. While this was an encouraging sign, it made one wonder why the librarians weren't swamped. The answer, of course, was Library Club.

Members of this organization performed many tasks which were necessary around the library. They took attendance, typed and filed papers, processed new books, wrote out overdue slips, straightened books, and ran errands. This left Miss Watts and Miss Galloway, the DHS librarians, time to help the student body.

The club sponsored a Christmas party in December, a freshman initiation in February, and a spring picnic in May. They also participated in the Library Club Conference at Hoopeston in March, and sent delegates to a meeting at Gibson City in September.

Kay Tipton was president; Linda Stuebe, vice-president; Darla Drews, secretary; and Pat Lapko, treasurer; and social chairman, Linda Scarlett.

Records were kept in the library office.

Office Assistants, Operators, and Monitors

A great many students had a hand in running Danville High School. Their duties ranged from acting as monitors to aiding in the office, to operating the switchboard. In these capacities the group took a great financial load off the school.

The duties of the monitors were to keep order in the halls during lunch hours and to prevent the students from wandering into areas where noise might distract classes.

Student operators were busy all day every day. Some of them even stayed after school to keep the switchboard open.

The office assistants worked in both of the Dean's offices and the Guidance office and aided the school nurse. They wrote transfers, filed cards, collected attendance slips, and ran general errands.

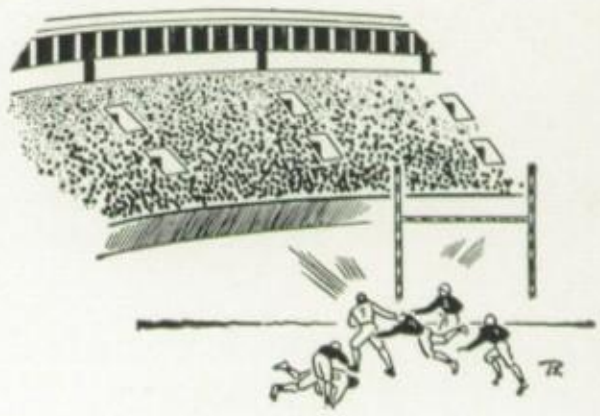
MEDLEY

Energy and interest were required from athletes and spectators alike. Both in participating and in cheering, our students tried to display D. H. S spirit in its truest form and to bring honor to our school.

Co-captains Lewis and Tabor led the Maroons out to a successful 1956 season.

Varsity Football



Keynote of the 1956 football team was spirit. From the very first practice session the school sensed a good season. The squad responded by winning six games, tying two, and losing one. Even the loss was a moral victory, for the Maroons were the first team to score against unbeaten Champaign.

In the traditional opening opening game with Crane Tech, Danville set the scoring pace for the season. "Pell Mel" Lewis opened the season by picking up 42 yards in nine tries, and the team walloped Tech 26-8. The following week they rolled over Kankakee 13-7. Against Urbana, Lewis piled up 82 yards and two touchdowns by plowing straight up the middle. Joe Darnell completed the one-two punch with his long breathtaking scampers along the sidelines. The score, 33-0. They mauled highly regarded Benton 26-6. Although Lewis was scoreless, the aerial attack of Johnny Boyd and Gene Wright kept the scoring machine rolling.

The stand out game of the season was played against the Western Maroons from Champaign. Even though the game was held in Champaign, an estimated 1,000 spectators from Danville were present. Fired with desire, the team played a brilliant game. Receiving the kickoff, Danville marched past the Champaign goal line to score the first touchdown of the season against them. Champaign retaliated in kind, and the score remained 6 to 6 for the first half. Several times, each team threatened to score, but the tremendous line play of both teams prevented more touchdowns.

In the second half the Champaign team scored twice more to win 20-6, and became the only team to defeat Danville.

Danville returned to the winning trail by demolishing Mattoon 26-6 on Homecoming. Mel Lewis smashed 190 yards through the line while losing only 2 for a 6.1 average. Darnell continued to dazzle the crowd by escaping tacklers twice his size and dashing for scores. The passing and line work neared perfection as the season progressed.

Against Streator the squad ran up against a stone wall, and neither team was able to score.

They wrecked Clinton 39-7 and wound up the season by tying Decatur 13-13.

Proof of the caliber of the team was the fact that co-captain Mel Lewis was ranked All-State by several papers, and Joe "The Bullet" Darnell and co-captain Don Tabor and Dave Brown received honorable mention.

Although the running and passing attack was the most spectacular aspect of the game, the line deserved much credit. Despite being hampered by the loss of Mike Thorlton, they generally pushed the opposing teams clear off the field. Without their brilliant blocking and tackling the winning season would not have been possible.

At the end of the season the team had rushed about a mile and a quarter, passed half a mile, and scored 171 points for one of the best seasons in many years.

Everybody's hero, Mel Lewis, wound up his fourth year in football by scoring ten touchdowns and one extra point, gaining 906 yards while losing only 29 for a net total of 877 yards, and averaging 5.1 yards per carry. This brought his four year total to 120 points scored and 1 1/5 miles gained.

Coaches Ray Grierson and Don Pittman could really be proud of their team, one of the best to come out of Danville in many years.

Reserve Football

The Maroon reserves opened the season by tying Urbana 6-6, dropping one game to Champaign and one to Decatur.

Finally jelling into a potent scoring machine, they rolled over Georgetown 32-6. Continuing to pile up points, the team smashed Oakwood 28-12, rolled over Westville 25-6 and annihilated Unity of Tolono 38-0. In outscoring their opponents 145-54, the Reserves amassed their greatest number of points since 1953. After the reserve season was completed, several of the freshmen and sophomores were promoted to the varsity squad.

The team was coached by Bill Wayland and Dwayne Roe, both of whom were new to the job. They whipped the team into a good football machine, and both the team and coaches deserved praise for the excellent season they had.

Longnecker went high for the pass.

Cross Country

The harrier team, led by Captain Buddy Martin, opened the season with a decisive 25-30 win over Bismarck. Following this came a long series of losses. The boys placed seventh at the Big 12 meet in Champaign with 170 points and rounded out the dual meet season with a victory over Bismarck.

The team finished the season with 158 points in the District meet. There were no IHSA state entries.

The scoring for cross-country was different from that of any other sport, for the team with the fewest number of points won. The reason was that as the winner crossed the finish line, his team got one point, then as more men finished, the teams were given progressively more points. The squad with the fastest runners got the fewest points and therefore won.

Buddy Martin was chosen as Most Valuable and Karl Lape was elected to guide the 1957 cross-county squad. Lettermen included Martin, Lape, Glen Michaelson, and James Ritchie.

Varsity Basketball

The varsity basketball team was greatly hampered by lack of any outstanding height. Consequently, the team was forced to use a hustling brand of basketball that sometimes was effective and sometimes wasn't. The team finished the season with a record composed of ten wins and twelve losses.

The season began on a good note, with Danville defeating Gibson City. Gibson City replaced Catlin this year as the opening game opponent. The squad then proceeded to beat Bradley, bow to Springfield, and pick up three more victories against Urbana, Mattoon, and Hoopeston. They dropped two to Pekin and Kankakee, and they won a second game against Hoopeston. Then the bottom dropped out. Danville lost to Peoria Manual and Champaign, beat Streator and Decatur, and finished the season with only one more win.

Losing to Mattoon, Bloomington, Champaign, Paris, Lincoln, and Urbana, the team managed to salvage the biggest game of the season against Peoria Central.

At the time of the game, Peoria was the third ranked team in the state. After losing three games at the start of the season they had been undefeated. But Danville was determined to be victor that night. Even though they gave inches of height per man, Danville outshot, outplayed, and outhustled their adversaries. Even though behind most of the game, Danville forged ahead. Free throws in the last seconds gave the team its three point margin, as Danville once again displayed its ability to play "spoiler."

The guards were the consistent spark plugs of the team. Captain Eddie Miller's and Jim Ribbe's fancy floorplay and ball-hawking delighted the crowds time and again. A pleasant surprise for the team was the improvement of forward, Tom Major. Bill Freivogel came into his own at the end of the season, scoring twenty points per game for the last three. The most valuable man on the team was forward, Wendell Anglin. By combining his speed and ability with a sharp shooting eye he was able to pace the team scoring with 320 points. Second in the scoring race was captain-elect Bill Freivogel with 254 points.

Reserve Basketball

The junior varsity basketball team had the winningest year in DHS history when they completed their season with a 19-2 record. Winning their first fourteen games, they rolled over Gibson City, Bradley, Springfield, Urbana, Mattoon (twice), Hoopeston (twice), Pekin, Kankakee, Peoria Manual, Champaign, Streator, and Decatur. Then, in a very close game with Bloomington, they dropped one 55-54. The squad recovered to defeat Champaign for the second time. Against an extremely tall Peoria Central team they met defeat a second time, 70-63. The team rallied to complete the season by trouncing Paris, Lincoln, Rantoul, and Urbana. The boys played their games immediately before the varsity contests, and both squads traveled together.

Coach Ray Grierson and his whole squad should be justly proud of their record.

Jerry scored two for the Junior Maroons.

Freshman-Intramural Basketball

The freshman basketball team ran into a little more opposition than they could handle. Although the squad finished the season on the wrong end of a 5 and 9 season, the boys turned in some excellent games. In the Hoopeston games, both teams divided their squads into two parts to allow every boy to get experience. Of the many fine players on the team Bill Bush, Dave Cade, Wayne Hoskins, Ron Warner, Charles Pickering, Carl Devore, and Mike Hurley were most often starters.

Many of the boys who didn't participate in other winter sports joined the intramural basketball league. Under the direction of Mr. William Christy, they were divided into six teams. After fifteen games were played, the champion was crowned! The Trojans emerged victorious with an eleven won–four lost record. Sam Hill, of the Collegians, was high scorer, 161 points for the year, while Herb Jones of the Trotters and Bob Foster of the Trojans were tied for second, 148 points.

Despite an "average" dual meet record, the swimming team had a very successful season. Having a "hot and cold" streak, the team opened the season with a win over Champaign followed by a loss to Bloomington. Then they beat Urbana and lost to Peoria to finish up the first half of the season. In January they resumed the schedule by beating Peoria. For the third straight year Danville placed high in the Riverside Invitational Meet, by gaining fourth place. They then defeated Bloomington, lost to Champaign, and trounced Urbana for the second time. Dropping the final meet of the season to powerful Culver, the team finished the season with five wins and four losses.

Climaxing the season was the Big Twelve Meet in which Danville placed third. Danville had three individual champions, Terry Allen in the 100-yard free style, Herb Kidwell, who won his second straight diving championship, and Bob Colby the fifty-yard sprint swimmer.

Captain Allen was the only state finalist. He placed fourth in the 200-yard free style and sixth in the 150-yard Individual Medley.

The breast-strokers were off to a flying start.

These four represented Danville in the State meet at New Trier.

Wrestling at DHS reached its peak when the '56-'57 team achieved a 7-2 season, Captain Bob Spicer remained unbeaten through the season. Danville easily defeated Mattoon and Bloomington but against Jeff of Lafayette they met their first defeat. Jeff, who later won second in the Indiana State Wrestling Championships was unable to gain a winning margin until the last match. The team then beat Champaign and Kankakee and lost to Urbana. Champaign and Kankakee each fell again to the Maroons, and the team closed the season by avenging their defeat by Urbana.

In post season contests the wrestlers did very well, as the team placed second in the Big 12. Thomas, Parsons, and Spicer went on to win first in the sectionals, along with Weaver and Tabor who placed second and Ruggles who placed third. The team placed second behind Pekin in the sectionals.

The season was climaxed when Captain Spicer won the State Wrestling Championship at 145 pounds. Directing the team in the season was Coach Don Pittman.

Bailey tried to pin his man in the 95 lb. division.

The track team made the 1956 season one of the most successful in many years. In a series of nine varsity dual meets the Danville squad won six while losing only three. Starting slowly, they placed second in the Urbana Open, second in the Paris Relays and third in the Urbana Relays. Then showing tremendous improvement, they swept first places in the District and Big 12 meets, for the best Danville showing since 1925. In winning the Big 12 they defeated two of the three teams who had beaten them earlier in the season, Urbana and Champaign. Danville, through the jumping ability of Wilbur "Sonny" Dickson, placed eleventh in the State Meet with five points. Sonny leaped 6 feet 3¼ inches in the high-jump to win the State Championship

Dickson sailed effortlessly over the bar to a state championship.

The judges measured the winning jump to be 6' 3 1/4".

Baseball

The 1956 baseball Maroons, coached by William Christy, completed a highly successful season, with a 15-3 record.

Although bad weather cancelled the first game, Christy's men opened the season with three consecutive wins. Losses to Champaign 3-2 and Lafayette Jefferson 6-1 were later avenged by wins over both teams. This snapped Lafayette's winning streak of two years. The team went on to gain eleven straight victories. In the district tournament. Danville won its first game against Unity of Tolono, 10-0, but was defeated by Champaign in the second game, 8-7.

The team was headed by Captain Ray Brown who played left field. Third base-

Jerry Smith put the tag on a Covington man.

Led by Captain John Kay, the 1956 DHS racquet squad compiled a season's record of nine wins and seven losses. After dropping the first meet to Shortridge of Indianapolis, the team came back to defeat Springfield and go on to a winning season.

The 1956 schedule included fourteen dual meets, the Decatur and Peoria Quadrangular meets, the district, the state, and the Big 12 Conference meets. The Peoria meet, however, was rained out.

In the district meet they tied Champaign for first place while in the Big 12 Conference they tied Pekin and Champaign for second place.

Coach Glen Robertson's lettermen included Captain John Kay, Dick York, Jack Reynolds, Roland Hayden, and Bill Goetzleman. Rounding out the squad were Tom Means, Phil Koehn, Bill Dancey, Joe Black, and Chris Shinall. The Boys' Athletic Association (B.A.A.), advised by the Athletic Director, Mr. Lawrence A. Newtson, voted on the awarding of numerals to the athletes participating in fall, winter, and spring sports. The coaches submitted the names of the boys that they wished to receive letters. Then the Board of Control and the coaches affirmed the awarding of the numerals to the boys whose names were turned in. The Board members were nominated and elected to other posts by the respective coaches. This year's Board of Control was comprised of President, Ora (Buddy) Martin, cross-country captain; Vice-President, Terry Allen, swimming captain; Secretary-Treasurer, Hugh Himan, baseball captain; Business Manager, Melvin Lewis, football captain; and Advertising Manager, Ed Miller, basketball captain. The B.A.A. was also responsible for the assemblies where letters were awarded to the individual athletes.

A team of six ushers, neatly dressed in their characteristic white shirts, bow ties, and slacks, were to be found at every football and basketball game. In addition to the customary duties of guiding fans to their seats, they also maintained order by keeping the fans off the floor during halftimes of the basketball games and also aided the workers in the concession stand. Mr. Lawrence E. Newtson served as the adviser to the ushers.

Cheerleaders

"W-I-N!" "Cha-he!" "Satisfied!" These are only a few of the cries that could be heard echoing through the halls of DHS when the cheerleaders held their practice sessions. These five girls did a great deal to promote pep and enthusiasm throughout the school during both the football and basketball seasons. The results were evident in the improvement of the spirit over last year's.

The squad for this year, made up of Sharron Wright, Juanita Jones, Ruth Blue, Willa Clayton, and Barbara Daly, was chosen by members of student council and homeroom representatives in the spring of 1955. Mr. John Sanders was the new adviser, and Ruth Blue was elected captain.

In addition to cheering at all of the games, the cheerleaders always played an important part in the pep assemblies. These assemblies were considerably enlivened this year by the appearance of the DHS spirit jug, which was presented at each session to the class displaying the most enthusiasm. All of the teams certainly owe a lot of credit to the cheerleaders for helping to make their seasons successful.

The girls showed off their new maroon and white jumpers.

Sharron and Barbara went high to enthuse spirit in the DHS crowd.

Standing: P. Poole, P. Clendenen, J. Barnett, president; B. Taylor, P. Hines, J. Hughes, J. Dowdy. Seated: Miss Bock, Mrs. Price, advisers.

Girls' Athletic Association

Counterpart of the boys' athletic program is the Girls' Athletic Association. The girls played soccer, volleyball, basketball, softball, swimming, archery, bowling, and tumbling.

In addition to the sports program the girls enjoyed many other activities. At the annual Mother and Daughter Banquet, held at the end of the first semester, the new members were inducted. They also held a Christmas party and a spring picnic at the end of the school year.

There were two high school playdays, in Urbana and Oakwood, a workshop in Olney, and a grade school playday in Danville. Several girls also took advantage of summer girls' camps. Among these were Barbara Taylor and Phyllis Clendenen who went to the Lake Bloomington Camp.

To stimulate attendance and competition the G.A.A. gave awards to deserving girls. The girls earned points for the awards by getting two points for each night's attendance. The scoring system required 75 points

People Behind the Teams

DHS's Pep Club took on new functions during the year. The group was made responsible for electing cheerleaders for 1957-58, and it also made plans for the student card section. Ruth Ann Krauel was president, and Jeanette Krauel was pep engineer for the group of nearly 200 members.

Unsung heroes of the athletic department were the managers. They attended practice as regularly as any varsity man, and were just as necessary. Newest addition to the group, which included baseball, basketball, wrestling, football, and track, was the swimming manager, the first in the team's history.

Another "behind the scenes" man was Mr. Bolser, who helped the teams with their equipment and served as a trainer.

The cheerleaders were also a great moral support for the teams, pepping up the team spirit.

The Honor Society was composed of high ranking members of the 1956 graduating class. Students who received membership in this group all had seven semester averages of 90 or better. Four students, Barbara Bailey, James Cunningham, Ronald Gillum, and Elsie Walker, reached the zenith of high school scholastic honor, a perfect "straight A" average.

Honors were also given to students who maintained high averages in the various courses, such as English, mathematics, social science, art, commerce, and languages.

Students also received honors for extra-curricular work in organizations such as: MAROON AND WHITE and MEDLEY, Quill and Scroll; Dramatic Club, Thespian; Wranglers; and Writers. "Quill and Scroll" was awarded to publications members who made good records in journalism, while "Thespian" was awarded to dramatic students who played in a major production and were in the upper third of their class.

Students receiving individual honors were Barbara Bailey and Elsie Walker, Valedictorians; James Cunningham, Valedictorian, Rotary, and Commercial News; Ronald Gillum, Valedictorian and Rotary; Carol Meers, business; Judy Hembry, music; Fred Carter, art; Linda Gugin, Betty Crocker Award; and Myron Stuebe, manual arts.

"Education is the key to democracy"

Mary Miller
Dean

Danville Junior College, just completing its eleventh year, grew from an extension of the University of Illinois to an independent junior college. Attendance increased each year as more and more people in the community sought to further their education by attending afternoon and evening classes.

Students from School District 118 attended DJC this year without paying tuition. Several local groups also provided scholarships to students who merited them scholastically.

The Junior College offered the first two years work in most fields. Courses in Liberal Arts, Commerce, Engineering, Pre-Med, Medical Technology, and Teachers Training were taught by well qualified instructors.

The DJC Student Senate was organized early in the first semester. Officers of the freshman and sophomore classes, the presidents of Phi Rho Pi and Thi For, and the president of the nurses' classes comprised the Senate. Dean Mary Miller was the adviser. Frank Schull served as president of the Senate, and Jeannine Zeiter was the secretary.

DJC Students paid their fees to Mr. Hayes at registration.

Mrs. Neel checked Kollege Kapers ticket sales in College Office.

Phi-Rho-Pi was a national honorary forensic society for junior colleges. DJC's Mu Chapter held monthly meetings, and members furthered speech activities begun in Speech 100. Rev. E. Stormer served as president, and under his leadership were Judy King, vice-president; Pat Anrde, secretary-treasurer; Pat Lazar, Publicity; Frank Schull, Program Chairman; Joe Tharp, Social Chairman; and Frank Switzer, Membership Chairman. Mr. R. D. Purkey and Dean Mary Miller are advisers.

PHI-RHO-PI
Standing: Mr. Purkey, J. Tharp, F. Schull, F. Switzer. Seated: P. Lazar, E. Stormer, president; J. King, P. Andre.

Bill DeVore practiced a lay-up.

Another first for DJC this year was the basketball team. Coached by Dwayne Roe, the boys practiced one night a week and made a good showing against various independent teams in the area. High scorer for the year was Jim Jones. Others on the team were Bill DeVore, Marlon Pattison, Dave Dusendschon, Bob Jones, Jim Davis, Jim Turner, Tom Blanton, Don Little, and Jerry Marvel. Their opponents included Producers' Dairy and Henning.

Thi-For, DJC's social organization, was organized a year ago. During the school year, the club sponsored parties, dances, and a hay rack ride for the members as well as a get-acquainted party and a costume dance for the college. Advisers were Miss Mary Ann Diller and Mr. Glen Robertson. Officers are President, Frank Schull; Vice-President, Joe Tharp; Secretary-Treasurer, Judy King; and representatives, Hershall Lee, Bob Bettag, Norris Lang, and Carol Guthrie.

THI-FOR
Standing: Mr. Robertson, Miss Diller. Seated: F. Schull, president; J. King, C. Guthrie, N. Lang, R. Bettag, H. Lee.

The Spring Swing committee met to talk over plans for the 1957 Pennywhistle Prom.

Social activities were not neglected by the DJC students. In the fall a picnic and wiener roast was held at Camp Ta-Wa-Si. A masked ball "The Winter Carnival" heralded the approach of winter. Costumes were the keyword, as cigarette packs, a cat and mouse, angels, clowns, ghosts, and storybook characters filled the dance floor at the American Legion Club. The crowd waited anxiously to hear the still unrevealed names of the King and Queen. At last, the great moment arrived and MC Jim Davis placed the crowns on the royal heads of Queen Bobbie Angell and King Bill DeVore.

In March the annual Kollege Kapers, a student produced stunt show, was held in the DHS auditorium. Barbara Powell and Dale Dumbaugh led the audience on a tour of "A Night in New York." Featured were scenes and well-known numbers from some of the outstanding shows of the New York season. Over forty college students participated in the various numbers. Frank Schull was the general chairman for this show.

"The "Pennywhistle Prom" brought the school year to a dramatic end. Cascades of flowers, floral swings, and a scented fountain transformed the Harrison Park Clubhouse into a tropical isle. High school seniors from all over the county were invited to attend the spring prom as special guests.

Two of the student nurses danced a sailor's hornpipe.

Mary Johnson sang "Getting to Know You" to her Siamese students.

Fran, Sandra, and Mary presented a skit as their part of the show.

As we go from the world of books into the business world of today, many of us will be taking positions here in Danville. We will be entering a field quite well known to us already for the local business firms have always cooperated with Danville High School. Without the assistance of the firms listed below the success of this book would not have been possible. We wish to thank them and urge you to give them your support.

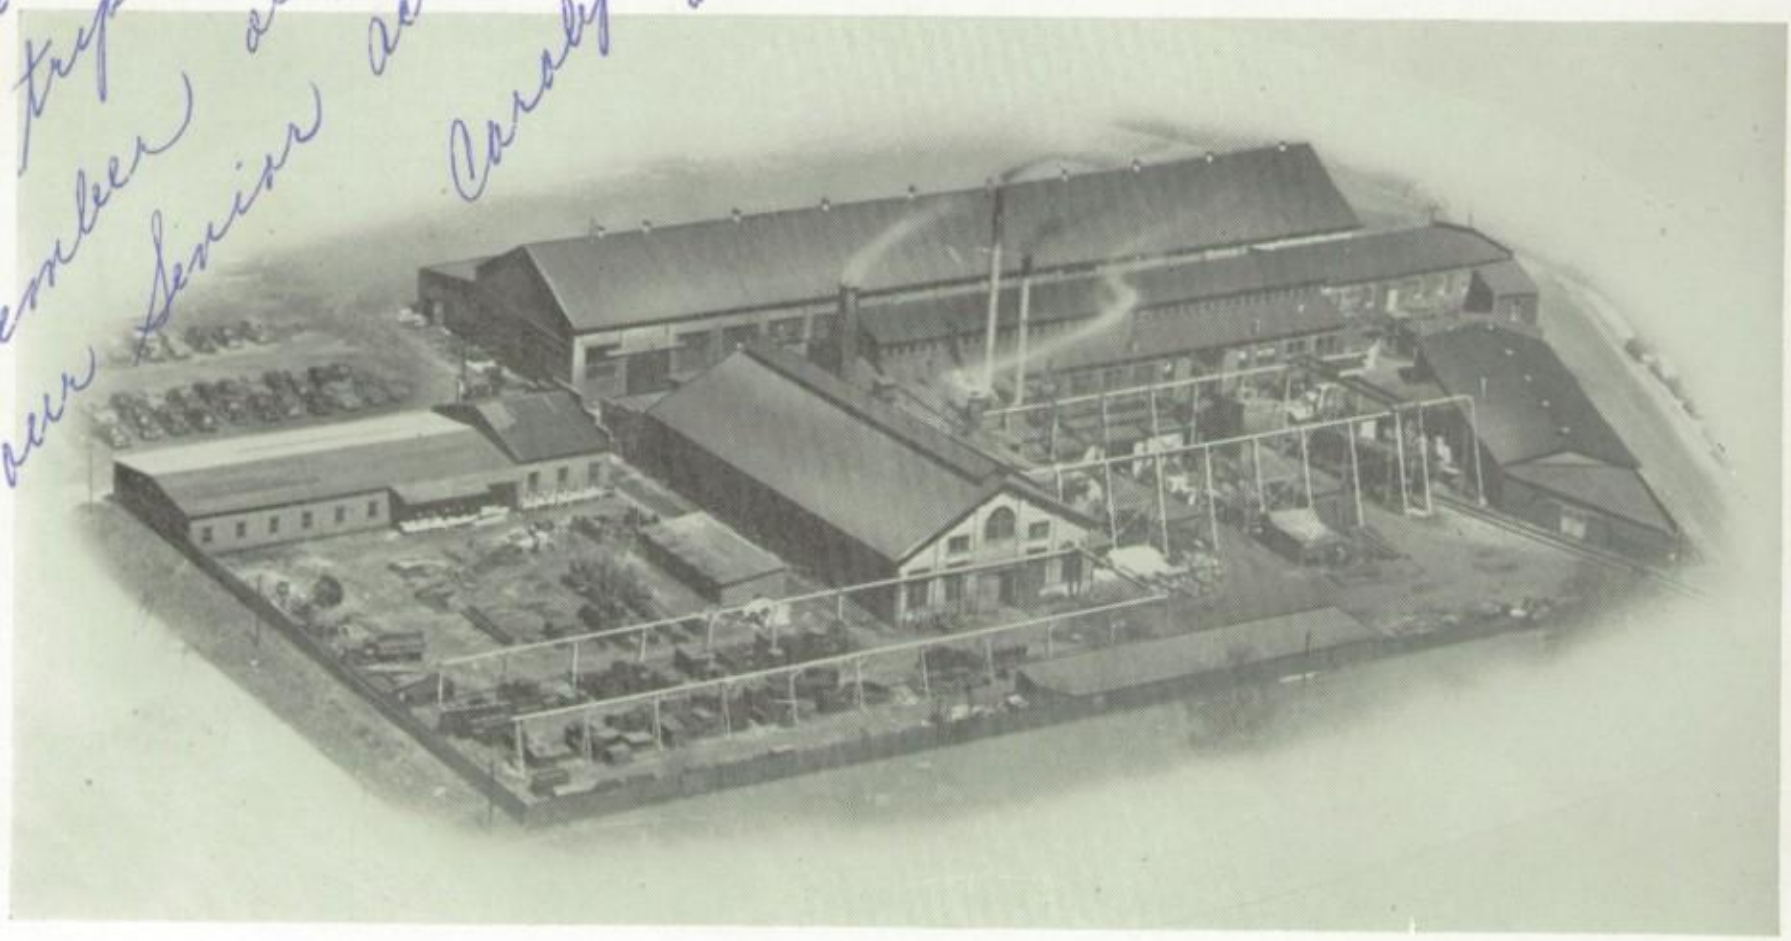
ROBERT HOLMES & BROS., INC.



Robert Holmes & Bros., Inc. is one of Danville's oldest industries. The company was organized in 1872.

The office consists of accounting, sales, production and engineering departments. The plant includes a pattern shop, grey iron foundry, machine shop and steel fabricating shop. The efforts of them all are combined to produce medium and heavy machinery for coal and ore mines, steel mills, foundries, railroads, power plants and other heavy industries.

The departments and shops are staffed with people who are qualified in various professions and skills.

If you wish to become better acquainted with the operations and opportunities at Robert Holmes & Bros., Inc., we invite you to visit us, and if you so desire, be taken on a tour of our plant.
